Firemen Fight Against Disaster Threat As Huge Stockpile of Magnesium Burns

A huge magnesium dump at the Kawecki Chemical company burst into flames shortly before midnight Thursday, imperiling the entire, sprawling industry.

Ten two-ton tanks of highly-volatile ammonia nearby threatened disaster as firemen fought to contain the blaze in the 3500-square-foot magnesium storage area.

Chief Jack Kline, of the Boyertown Hook and Ladder company, coming off the fire line at 1:30 a.m., today said authorities "believe the danger has passed."

But for more than an hour, the entire chemical plant and the lives of the fire-fighters hung in the balance as the glare of the blaze lit up an overcast sky with a red light seen as far away as Allentown, Reading and Collegeville.

THE FIRE, of unknown origin, went off without a blast, but the blinding glare was seen almost immediately and simultaneously by Colebrookdale Police Chief Ernest Schwenk and Douglass (Montgomery) Chief Linwood Johnson, both patroling the nearby area. They called Boyertown emergency center on their police radios.

Kawecki is built on both sides of County Line road, but the blaze occurred on the Montgomery county side in Douglass township.

The magnesium dump—which contains bales and barrels of the inflammable metal used in deadly World War II bombs—is situated near a foundry in the midst of the plant.

The heat of the fire caused one small ammonia tank to explode shortly after the magnesium ignited.

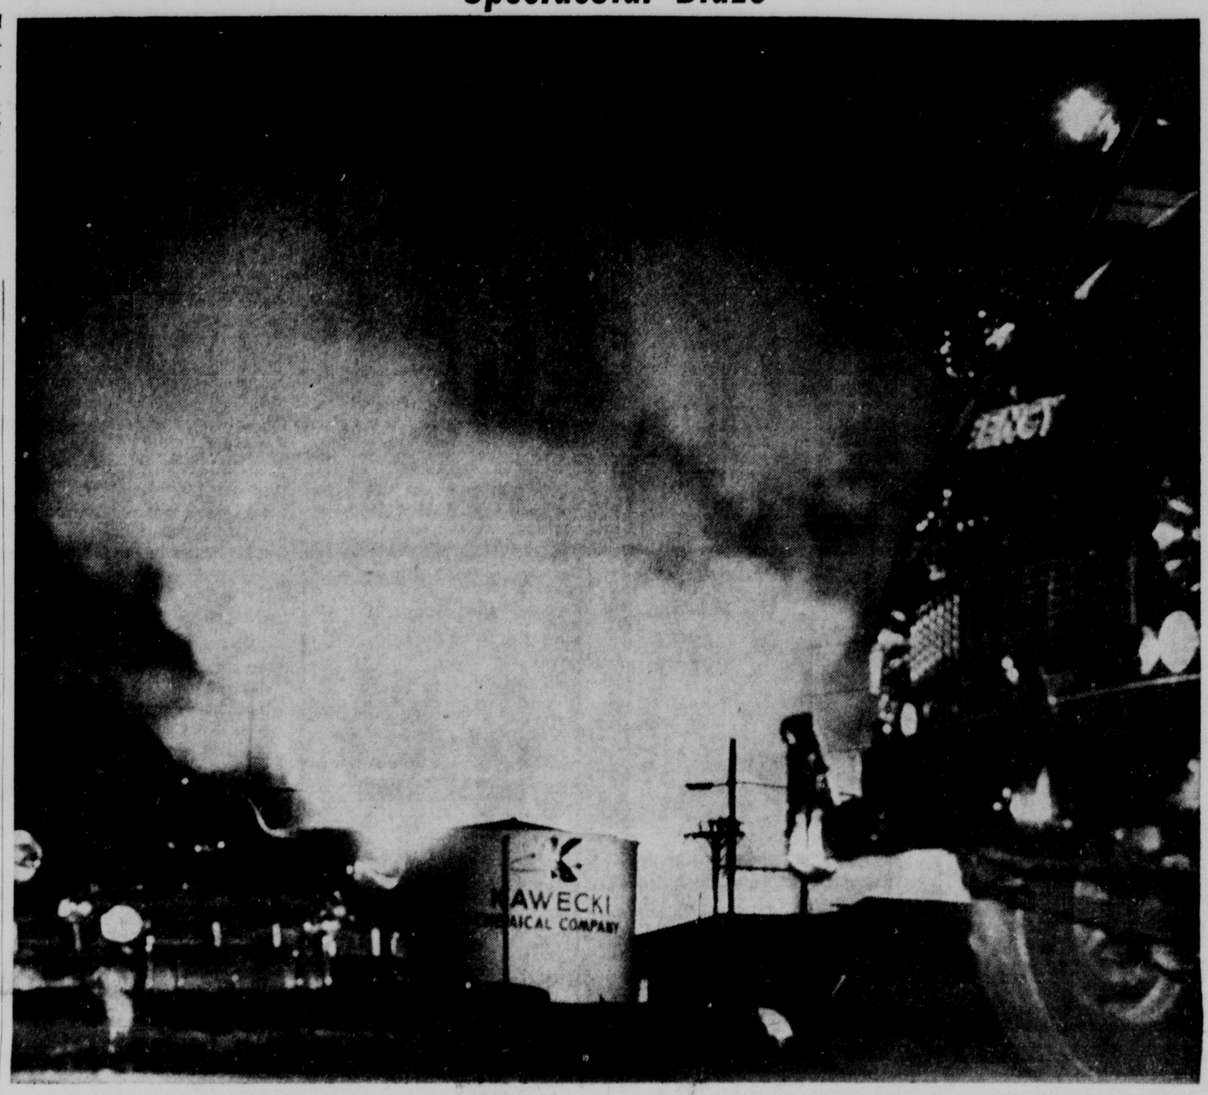

The blast was negligible, but threatened what might come if the railroad tank car-size containers were reached by the flames.

Chief Kline, who said 75 men were on the fire line, predicted

Fear that ammonia tanks might explode kept firemen concerned when magnesium caught fire at the Kawecki Chemical company plant. Residents in the area were alerted to the danger. The blaze is pictured at its height above, as emergency crews went into action. —Mercury Staff Photo

FIRE KILLS WOMAN

A young woman who lived in a home in front of the Main Line Trailer park, Limerick, was killed in a fire in her home this morning.

She was taken to Memorial hospital in Trappe ambulance and pronounced dead at 3:30 o'clock.

The victim's identity was not immediately established.

TRAFFIC JAM FEARED WITH GATE CHANGE

Three borough officials are expected to lead the parade of witnesses opposing the installation of an automatic railroad crossing gate on South Hanover street at a Public Utility commission hearing today in Norristown.

Assistant Borough Solicitor Ronald Reynier said Thursday that he expects Burgess John B. Hartenstine Jr., Fire Chief Richard Moser, Police Chief Harold E. Hahn and Councilman Charles Shaner to testify against the installation.

The hearing was requested by the Reading Railroad company, which seeks to replace the crossing guards with a $55,000 automatic gate and signal light system. A similar request was dropped several years ago before a hearing was conducted.

The borough is basing its opposition to the Reading railroad's plan on two things—the traffic jams that will be caused by any mechanical failure of the gates and the serious safety hazard it claims will result from the removal of the watchmen.

A repeat of last weekend's balmy weather is in store for late today, tomorrow and possibly Sunday, the weatherman promised, but not without a little morning moisture.

Rain is expected to continue through most of this morning but a clearing trend is due this afternoon, forecasters promised. Skies will be clear tonight though the air will be slightly chilly in advance of a sunny Saturday. Much the same is expected Sunday.

THE WEATHER

Rain this morning, ending before noon. Clearing this afternoon, high near 65. Fair and cool tonight, low in 40s. Mostly sunny tomorrow, high near 70.

Newest Councilman Will Resign Post

Success Blueprint Given Transit Crisis

Pottstown was given a second "blueprint for success" in overcoming its bus crisis Thursday — with the assurance that close community co-operation will do the trick."

Lyon Borden, secretary-manager, of the Easton Chamber of Commerce, explained that the Northampton county city recently headed off a similar calamity, kept its bus service and is well on the road to recovery.

The Easton solution closely parallels the case in Lebanon, where 175 civic-minded citizens purchased a folding bus firm outright for $40,000 and has made a paying proposition of it.

In Easton, a "real, active study" by community leaders showed how the bus firm could operate profitably. The city and its people agreed to allow the bus company to drop unprofitable lines and cut back other service.

Borden's description of how community co-operation kept the buses running came at a time when leaders in all facets of Pottstown life were drawing the battle lines to cope with the pending end of a carrier which transports nearly a million passengers a year.

A study-group, probably to be centered around borough council, will include represenatives of commerce, industry and school.

SERVICES SET FOR HOSPITAL NURSING CLASS

Baccalaureate, Worship Will Be Combined Sunday

Baccalaureate services for the Class of 1961, Pottstown Hospital School of Nursing, will be incorporated into the morning worship and confirmation services Sunday at Grace Lutheran church.

The class of 19 girls—equal to the previous largest class which graduated in 1947—will enter its "graduation" week with the exercises, although its training term will not be officially completed until September 1.

The Rev. Richard G. Hoffert will include remarks on the baccalaureate theme in his morning message. Because of the new manner of conducting the ceremony, invitations were not extend-

Local Hospitals Get Citations

Pottstown and Memorial hospitals received certificates commemorating 25 years of membership in the American Hospital association at a convention of the association's Middle Atlantic chapter in Philadelphia.

The certificates in recognition of the hospitals' services while members of the organization, were received by delegations from both hospitals.

For Pottstown hospital, Administrator Edwin H. Prescott accepted the award. Other Pottstown hospital delegates were Leroy H. Doermann, assistant administrator; Ruth B. Schaeffer, dietician; Nathaniel Egelston, engineer; Thecla Witkowski, assistant director of nursing; and William Fisher, technologist.

Memorial hospital's delegation was headed by administrator Albert P. Pollick. Other delegates were assistant administrator H. Forrest Acker; Mrs. Lena Lupacchini, dietician; Mrs. Mildred Fulmer, purchasing agent; and Barbara Voychick, assistant purchasing agent.

More than 200 exhibits were shown at the convention, sponsored by hospital supply companies in Convention hall.

Hearing Put Off In U.S. Probe of Baking Industry

A U. S. attorney general's special grand jury hearing into possible price-fixing in the Philadelphia area baking industry was continued until June 16.

The anti-trust division then will start the probe in U. S. District Court in Philadelphia. Among the firms subpoenaed is Twentieth Century Distributors, a subsidiary of the Schulz Baking Company in Pottstown.

The continuance was granted to allow baking firms sufficient time to compile all the records which they will be required to produce for the inquiry.

Transit Authority Claims Identical Bids Submitted

Bethlehem Steel company and Firestone Tire and Rubber company both of which have plants in Pottstown were among 10 firms submitting identical bids in New York, it was reported Thursday.

The New York City Transit authority reported to Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy that an analysis of the bids over the past years "indicates a clear, undeviated pattern of identical bids."

Daniel T. Scannell, general counsel for the authority, pointed out that five steel firms submitted identical bids on 8410 car wheels last year. The firms are

PIPKO PLANS TO MOVE FROM WARD

Party Chieftain Says Action Came as Surprise

DEMOS FACE TASK OF FINDING NEW MAN

Jerome Pipko's political star was just beginning to rise.

As a teenager studying American history at Pottstown High school he became enthused with the ideals of the Democratic party. Franklin Delano Roosevelt was his political hero. When he was old enough to vote he became an active party worker.

On May 8 he became a councilman—the youngest in borough history. People in the old Fourth ward pointed to him with pride and the political pros called him "a comer, a man to be watched in the future."

But his political star dimmed.

THE 26 YEAR old Army veteran will resign his council seat within the next few weeks when his family moves out of the ward. His career in council—one meeting—will set another record—the shortest in borough history.

E. C. HURTER IS NAMED TO LOAN BOARD

Bethlehem Executive Fills Vacant Post

A Bethlehem Steel company executive and former Sixth ward Republican councilman was appointed to the board of directors of Manatawny Building and Loan association, Robert W. Evans Jr., association secretary announced Thursday.

Ernest C. Hurter, 45, safety supervisor of the local Bethlehem Steel plant and a resident of 1036 Queen street, will fill the unexpired term of the late William C. Weller.

Mr. Weller, who died two months ago after a long illness, served on the board more than 20 years. He was chief clerk and cashier of Bethlehem Steel company when he succumbed at 83.

The new appointee was promoted to his post at Bethlehem Steel May 1. He succeeded Albert T. Metcalfe, who ended 31 years service to the company in the largest single executive retirement in local Bethlehem Steel history.

BOONE BOARD VOTES LIMITED EXPANSION

Temporary Solution Reached at Session

Half day sessions and Quonset huts were turned down as methods for easing crowded conditions in the Daniel Boone school jointure Thursday night when the joint board adopted a limited expansion and transportation program to take care of its pupils.

The board reached a temporary solution for the crowding problem by accepting the recommendation of the policy committee at a jointure meeting in the Roosevelt Junior High school in Birdsboro.

Only a handful of persons attended the meeting, a contrast with most sessions of the past ten months in which hundreds of residents turned out to protest a board decision on a site for its proposed new secondary school.

The site question never came

Sidewalk Program More Than Half Complete

The Spring program of laying sidewalks in Penn Village is more than half complete, according to a report submitted Thursday to the Montgomery County Housing authority at its monthly meeting in North Hills Homes, Upper Dublin township.

Harry W. Burdan, 276 Diamond street, executive director of the authority, told members 320 square feet of sidewalk have been laid on Ryan street. Another 300 square feet will be laid on West Buttonwood street and along High street in the near future.

Other improvements of the past month to the low rent housing district include planting of five trees donated by the Pottstown Council of Churchwomen, Burdan said. That brought the coun-

Famous Authority on Problems of Love & Marriage

Don't Try To Rush Her Into A Decision

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 20 years old and have been going out with a girl three years older than I am.

I love her and want to marry her and I think she feels the same way about me, but she's always telling me she's too old for me and also keeps saying she doesn't know her own mind yet.

I think her parents are responsible for her feeling this way, because I know they don't want her to get married to any one but want to keep her home, even though they have told me they like me.

Can you think of any way I can persuade this girl that she isn't too old for me and that it's a girl's right to get married no matter what her parents say?

BOB D.

Dear Bob:

Whatever any other circumstances may be, if this young woman keeps telling you that she doesn't know her own mind, don't try to make it up for her. If you insist on arguing with her, she might send you about your business, which you certainly don't want.

I can hardly express any opinion about whether or not she's too old for you, since I know nothing about either of you. It often happens that these numerical differences in age aren't important when people are of approximately equal age mentally and emotionally and have many interests in common.

But wether or not this is so in your case, I naturally have no idea. You'd have to analyze it yourself along the lines I've just mentioned.

As for marrying against her parents' wishes, I agree with you that if all other considerations are favorable, a thoughtful, intelligent young woman of marriageable age has the right to make and carry out her own decision.

However, I do think that, unless this girl definitely wants to discuss the matter seriously with you, it would be very unwise to make it a subject for constant argument and persuasion right now. Wait until you're asked for your views.

All I can say is that, as I see it, your program at this time should be one of trying to make the young woman as happy as you can by being attentive and thoughtful and by showing her that you're putting her interests ahead of your own and waiting patiently until she does know her own mind.

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

For many years I've lived beside a certain boy and we always seem to have fun together. Then all of a sudden we went to the same dance and I was deathly frightened to ask him to dance.

Now I want to ask him to the ninth grade dance, but since I was scared of him before, I was going to write him a note. My girl friend, though, has told me I should talk to him personally.

If this boy were in the eleventh grade and you were in the ninth grade, how would you ask him to go to the dance with you?

I think he's the boy of my dreams and I also feel this is no childish love, since I've loved him since we were very small.

DESPERATE

Dear Desperate:

There's no reason at all why you should pay any attention to what your girl friend says about how you should invite this boy to the dance.

That's your own business. If it would make you feel awkward and self-conscious to give him the invitation personally, do just as you intended to do in the first place and write him a note.

Whatever you do, though, be a sensible girl and take this whole thing a little more calmly — not only the dance but your friendship with the boy, too.

You've worked yourself up into a big tizzy over it all and given it far more importance than it rates. Little as you believe it now, it's going to be a long time before you'll be mature enough to recognize the difference between childish love and mature love. So just relax, take things as they come and make the most of all your friendships. That way, you'll have much more fun — honest!

Schwenksville Pupil Granted 2 Scholarships

Carole Cole, an honor pupil in the Class of 1961 at Schwenksville High school, was awarded a four-year tuition scholarship to the Centennial Scholarships Honor program at the University in Denver, Colo. This scholarship is part of the Centennial Observance during 1963-64.

During that year many special activities will take place most of which will be directly related to the enrichment of the academic life of both students and faculty.

The Honors program is designed for a limited number of pupils whose high school records, achievements, college aptitudes and interests indicate an unusual capacity for collegiate studies. Special courses will be offered. As the student progresses towards graduation, there are unusual opportunities for independent study, research and direct reading. Carole was also awarded a PTA scholarship.

Lee Miller, also an honor pupil at Schwenksville High school, has been awarded one of the Superior Tube company scholarships valued at $500 per year for four years. This scholarship is open to children of employes at the company.

Lee is planning to attend Ursinus college in September. The candidates for this scholarship are given a series of tests of personality, intelligence and achievement. They were also interviewed and a committee of individuals outside the company selected the winners.

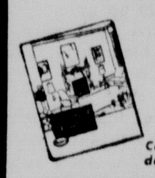

Lee was in addition awarded a $200 grant in aid. Each grant is tenable for four years provided that the holder's conduct and scholastic work remain satisfactory. Lee has also received the Ursinus Community scholarship for the year 1961-'62.

It is a funny thing about life—if you refuse to accept anything but the best you very often get it.—(W. Somerset Maugham)

Pentecost Sunday

POTTSTOWN Christians will observe Pentecost Sunday.

Pentecost or Whitsunday comes 50 days after Easter and commemorates the descent of the Holy Spirit to 120 Christian believers gathered in Jerusalem after the resurrection.

It is described in the second chapter of the Book of Acts.

"Jesus Christ, the Light of the World" is the theme of the annual Pentecost message issued by the Five presidents of the World Council of Churches. It is the same theme as that of the council's third world assembly to be held in New Delhi, India, November 18 to December 6.

The message of the World Council presidents calls attention to St. Peter's sermon at the first Pentecost in which he stressed the power of the Holy Spririt to transform believers into witnesses.

"Thus at the very beginning it becomes clear that the church in history is by its very nature a company of men and women who are called to render witness to God's act of salvation in Christ."

"A world of conflict and darkness, in which there is so much lack of clear purpose and real hope, needs to hear the message of reconciliation and renewal of life with which the Church began on Pentecost," says the Pentecost message of the World Council of Churches.

"It needs a church which witnesses to the present activity of the Holy Spirit by its peace-making, its concern for man and need, its evangelism, and by manifesting its God-given unity.

"This year the churches in the World Council prepare for their assembly in New Delhi. At the center of our deliberations will be the absorbing purpose of agreeing upon our common Christian task.

"This is an opportunity to demonstrate that this great light 'already shines' and that it dispels the darkness in and around us.

"For it is in the unity of living, praying, working, speaking together that the churches must show their desire and readiness to reflect the one Light of the World.

"And all congregations can participate in this by their study of the Bible and their prayer in relation to the assembly themes."

Thumbnail Tale of a Topsy

CENTRALISM in this country was born of terribly poor parents during the 30s.

Self-made, Centralism didn't get a chance to go to Harvard. But in high school, observing classmates figured that Centralism —voted "Most Likely to Take Over"—was some day going to deal, dole and dominate.

Centralism first was called the New Deal. Time passed. Then the name was changed to the Fair Deal, and later to Liberalism.

Actually, Centralism isn't new — just a throwback to the all-powerful governments of other ages. Nor fair — for it discriminates among citizens and deprives them of many freedoms. Nor liberal in the historic sense — for the liberals originally were those who combatted oppressive and all-pervasive government.

Many members of both political parties have embraced Centralism — provided, of course, that they have command. Centralists advocate more government direction and control of the activities of people and business; more spending and taxes; and the steady expansion of the size, power and cost of the Federal government.

Centralism is at the height of power today. But there's a way to cool the octupus off. It's up to us as citizens and taxpayers to understand that Centralism is a perilous path for America—and to give determined support to state and local efforts to solve state and local problems.

Let's get this done in '61.

As Others See It

WORCESTER, Mass. Telegram: ". . . The President protests that he is not promoting socialism. But no matter how he slices it, the program would initiate government domination of the medical relationships of millions of persons over 65. At present, most of these persons meet their own medical needs. Half of them have some form of private health insurance, much of it admittedly still inadequate. For the four million or so who cannot pay, government help is becoming more readily available, through the medical care bill passed by Congress last year. It has already been adopted by sixteen states, and more are planning to do so. It deserves a chance to work . . ."

'Squeezers' Also Break Health Law

Customers Need Tests?

To the Editor: The mobile X-ray unit used to certify food handlers was a good idea, and it was about time something was done about it.

Pottstown was subjected to potential health hazards for too long!

Neither ignorance of the law on the part of food dealers nor carelessness and apathy on the part of city officials is an excuse.

But if we're going to X-ray all food handlers, then we should X-ray every resident of Pottstown!

I run a food store. I have seen it often in my store and more often in other stores—that people will come in, pick up several fruits and vegetables, then dissatisfied, put them down and take others.

It would be just as easy for them to have a contagious disease as a food handler!

Maybe the publicity given to the food handler scandal will inspire residents to "look but not touch" when they come into a produce market.

Or would it be possible to have store owners erect signs citing the borough health laws which forbid food being touched before sold by other than food handlers?

Advice and — !

To the Editor: Instead of hopping around the country and telling everybody everything that President Kennedy should and shouldn't have done, why doesn't Mr. Nixon keep in mind the unconsciously profound statement written by a small school girl:

"Socrates," she wrote, "was a Greek philosopher who went about giving people good advice. They poisoned him."

Right Step in Schools

To the Editor: A pat on the back for Pottstown's school administration on their forward look on curriculum.

When you reported recently that school administrators expect to start teaching French and other foreign languages in Junior High school in the next couple of years I felt that Pottstown was going to be a better place to raise my children.

I think the need for teaching French, German, Spanish, Russian, and other languages on a detailed basis is apparent.

What a waste the one or two years of teaching a language has been! Little is retained either in vocabulary or grammar. In two years of study a pupil doesn't even have a chance to get around to conversational French or German.

Starting the language in Seventh grade and continuing with it through Twelfth is the only way to teach it. It might also be wise to start teaching vocabulary in grade school.

This world is getting smaller everyday. Our children are going to have to be able to speak a number of languages if they want to get along.

I'm glad to see somebody in the Pottstown school district recognizes that fact.

Pottstown PLEASED PARENT

The Dividend Credit

To the Editor: There is, as there should be, strong interest in various proposed reforms and changes in the chaotic federal tax system. Some should be given universal support —as in the case of the Administration's program for offering certain tax inducements to industry that would result in substantially increased new investment in plants and other physical facilities.

Other alleged "reforms", however, would do damage and injustice instead of good. An example of this is a probable attempt to repeal the 4 percent dividend credit which is allowed investors in corporation stocks.

This credit is in no sense a special favor to these investors. It simply recognizes the fact that corporate dividends are the only form of income subject to double federal income tax. Corporation profits are first taxed at the corporation rate of 52 percent. Then any remainder distributed as dividends is taxed again as individual income, at rates ranging up to 91 percent. The dividend credit offers only a crumb of relief from this unfair situation.

Moreover, much more than unfairness to shareholders—the great majority of whom are persons of moderate means—is involved. Double taxation of dividends is a barrier to investment — and to the creation of the new jobs this country so greatly needs. Indeed, if credit is to be changed at all, it should be increased, not reduced or eliminated.

Pottstown RD 18 RETIRED

Criterion

To the Editor: Theodore Roosevelt is credited with saying, "Only a people of sound intelligence and, above all, of robust character is fit to govern itself.

"No gift of popular institutions will avail if the people who receive them do not possess certain great and masterful qualities; and above all, the combination of two qualities—individual self-reliance and the power of combining for the common good."

One wonders what percentage of the people in this country qualify under these requirements. How many people are intelligent enough, well read enough, care enough or are unselfish enough to insure the future of our free democracy?

The discouraging thing about it is that many of our people who do have these qualities are engaged, for some reason I do not understand, in speeding us toward something entirely different from the ideals this country was founded upon and which we have been practicing for almost two centuries.

The Voice of Broadway

Gossip in Gotham

AN ODD rumor has Peggy King being tempted with "a fabulous offer" to co-star with Ethel Merman in the national company of "Gypsy." (The big question: what part would she play? There simply isn't any part suitable for her.) What Peggy would like to do is a musical on Broadway, and there's one hot prospect in the offing for this Fall.

Joe Williams, the nuclear-powered blues singer who sparked Count Basie's band for many years, has become a giant drawing card on his own since he quit the Basie crew. His price has soared to $3000 a week and among the gigs on his calendar are the Apollo, the London Palladium, and the Roundtable in Gotham right after that.

Rita Hayworth soon will be called upon to deny the reports that Jim Hill is going the way of all her other husbands. That's the gossip from Europe.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

GIDEON, aged about 30, was one of the most scientific men in the Bible. And God likes scientists, as Gideon's story proves.

The invading enemies of the Israelites were as grasshoppers for multitude. They had come up at harvest time to steal the wheat of Gideon's people.

It was while Gideon was threshing his father's wheat in a wine press, to hide it from the enemies, that God talked to him. God informed Gideon he had been picked to lead the Israelites against the invading hosts.

But Gideon wanted to be very sure it was really God who talked with him, so he asked for a sign. And God set his sacrifice on fire as proof.

Gideon then viewed the vast hordes camped in the valley, and decided he better make doubly sure, so he asked God to show him a second sign.

"Behold, I will put a fleece of wool on the floor," said Gideon, "and if the dew be only on the fleece while the surrounding earth is dry, then I'll know for sure that thou wilt save Israel by mine hand."

GOD AGREED and, sure enough, next morning Gideon squeezed a bowl full of water from the fleece, but the ground was bone dry.

But Gideon still wasn't content, so he apologized to God for asking for another experiment, but Gideon requested that the fleece remain dry the next night while the surrounding ground was wet with dew.

And God did so that night. So Gideon then recruited an army of 32,000 men. God didn't want so many and ordered Gideon to tell all those who were afraid, to go back home. And 22,000 admitted they were scared so they left.

But God said the remaining 10,000 were still far too many, so he had Gideon "screen" out 300 by the first psychological test ever used in war.

Only the 300 men who remained alert and watchful as they drank from the stream were chosen. The 9700 who stuck their faces in the water were discarded.

That night God knew that Gideon was still rather dubious. For he was outnumbered almost 5 to 1 when his army had 32,000 men, and now God had pared it down to only 300.

So God now suggested another test. Gideon had suggested all three previous tests, so God now took the initiative in recommending a final scientific survey of the enemy's morale.

GIDEON THUS sneaked down to the encampel enemy. As he approached a tent, he heard a couple of the hostile soldiers talking. One had dreamed a dream.

The other interpreted it by saying it meant God was going to smash their entire army by means of Gideon. So Gideon was now fully convinced that the enemy was verging on hysteria and ready to stampede.

Gideon then divided his 300 into three companies. Each man had a trumpet to blow on, plus an empty pitcher in which he carried a lighted torch.

On the given signal, they surrounded the enemy camp. And in the middle of the night, when the depth of sleep is greatest, they all blew their trumpets, smashed their pitchers, and apparently set fire to the enemy tents.

The enemy went berserk, every man slashing out with his sword at every shadowy figure nearby. So the hostile soldiers killed 120,000 of their own troops, while Gideon's 300 stood still and watched the remnant flee in terror.

Gideon thus was a true scientist. He tested God three times and God liked Gideon's attitude, so God then suggested the fourth test.

Inside Television

By EVE STARR

STARR REPORT: "Holiday In Japan," a scintillating variety-revue type extravaganza, now playing twice nightly to a packed Cocoanut Grove, is the Ambassador hotel's latest offering, and for my money the best entertainment I've seen in a long, long time.

A Steve Parker production brought in by the very perceptive vice president and manager Eliot Mizelle, the company of 60 Oriental talents headed by Izurmi Yurimura, Japan's beautiful TV star, is a welcome change from the regular comedian and singer type night club acts.

It seems to me a show of this kind in general, and "Holiday In Japan" in particular, would give viewers an hour or 90-minutes of entertainment, the likes of which they haven't seen in a long time.

THE DARLINGS of the packed audience turned out to be the Rockyfellers; father and four sons make up this troupe of hipsters who know their music, and swing and sing along with an 8 year old youngster who does some hilarious imitations of various stars.

One of them of Elvis Presley, gets a stand up ovation from the happy customers. The act is so good it will probably get TV exposure quite soon.

Papa, who is the musician of the family, his instrument being the bass fiddle, tells me his children got him into show business, instead of the other way around.

"They kept performing at school concerts, and later at special occasions and finally I had to get into the act, and got it going professionally. I figured if they were going to be so busy and work so hard they might as well get paid for it," Papa, a small youngish appearing Japanese said.

Interpreting The News

Visit By Johnson Heartens Thailand

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Observer
In Thailand

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson on his tour of Southeast Asia took the first steps toward creating a new and tighter working relationship between the United States and Communist - threatened nations.

What comes next in specific actions will be spelled out later.

Thai Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman said after Johnson left Thursday: "From a physical or material point of view I think it is reasonable to say the changes must come later. But from the psychological point of view a great deal has been accomplished.

"The vice president's trip was meant to be an encouragement to us — a gesture to show that the United States shares our interest in developments here. I have hopes that the material changes will come as soon as possible."

The Thai press quotes Prime Minister Sarit Thanarat as saying, "We will get more military aid but we have to discuss the conditions." He described himself as "partly satisfied" with the results of Johnson's visit.

The Thais want more weapons — and especially more modern weapons. And they feel they have a right to these as a result of Communist military advances in neighboring Laos which now bring Thailand directly under their guns.

The developments in Laos, in fact, are the key to a whole new problem in Southeast Asia and the primary reason for Johnson's quick trip.

There has been growing disenchantment, especially in Thailand and the Philippines, with the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization as an effective instrument for countering Communist moves in Asia. France and Britain are regarded by many Asian authorities as unwilling to take positive action when events such as those in Laos take place.

Coincidentally, they detected — or thought they detected — a diminishing interest on the part of the United States.

One of the most frequent comments has been: "We have been hearing assurances and promises and platitudes for a long time. When are the United States and SEATO going to back words with actions?"

Wherever Johnson went in Southeast Asia he laid it down hard and flat that the United States isn't going to welsh on its commitments.

Publicly and no doubt privately, he stressed the need for raising standards of living and providing better facilities for education, health and security. He said poverty and lack of hope are the servants of communism.

One official told this correspondent: "We realize that the United States is a world power with concerns all around the globe. But we have a feeling now that American interest in Southeast Asia is more intense than before."

DODGERS — American tourists abroad better make sure their rate of foreign spending tallies with their tax returns or they may have to make a trip to the Internal Revenue office, "The Insider's Newsletter" cautioned. The Kennedy administration issued orders to enlarge the force of income tax agents and customs tipsters stationed in foreign countries as part of the current crackdown on tax evaders. The theory behind the order is that some families hide huge sums of unreported income which they are careful not to spend at home. The pattern of modest living, however, breaks down when they travel and the family feels safe under a cloak of tourist anonymity. Names of every big spender are expected to be checked through United States tax authorities and those whose reported income does not jibe with their mode of travel will be kept under surveillance during their entire trip. The new quiet crackdown will go so far as to include general income scrutiny of all tourists traveling in high style.

★ BEATNIKS — Outsiders have been calling Greenwich Village, New York, characters "Bohemians" and "beatniks" for some time now, but the most recent nickname for the group is "The Loft Generation." Esquire magazine finds them living not in the accustomed cellars and one-room walk-ups, but in huge lofts — the second floors of abandoned factories or shops. For many years, the Village was the natural habitat of aesthetic hopefuls, mainly because it offered creative surroundings at low prices. But with the big apartment-skyscraper boom that has swept Manhattan since World War II, Greenwich Village has become a fashionable—and generally expensive place to live. Esquire notes that "the modern beehives replacing the brownstones offer no promise to painters, poets, writers, photographers, etc., —especially at sixty to a hundred dollars a month per room." "There is only one answer: a loft; a floor of unbroken space originally intended for commercial use."

BOON — One-dose hay fever immunity, the answer to problems of millions of injection-riddled Summer sneezers, has been medically approved, "The Insider's Newsletter" reported. Use of the one-shot treatment, pioneered by Dr. Mary Loveless, Denver, was given the go-ahead by a committee of the American Academy of Allergy. The new pollen extract prepared for one-shot protection is mixed with mineral oil in a consistency almost as thick as mayonnaise. The injection stores it in "depots" under the skin, from which it feeds continuously into the bloodstream in minute amounts, building up long-lasting immunity. The treatment was reported highly successful on test patients last year and has been pronounced more effective than the series of small doses administered over a period of months. However, one-shot immunization must be obtained early.

★ GIFTS — President Kennedy's well wishers already have flooded the White House with more than 8000 gifts, including a wide selection of booties and four crates of apples, The Insider's Newsletter reported. The President himself has received more than 2000 presents. But his young family has done three times as well, topped by John F. Jr., whose admirers have given him 1000 booties. Sister Caroline hadn't been forgotten either. Her mere asking for an apple at a White House press conference prompted one grower to ship four crates by express. The President has appointed a man in charge of White House gifts, with instructions to return any valued at more than $15 with the exception of paintings, sculpture, furniture and other items that can be left at the White House for succeeding Presidents.

Soviet Scientist Predicts Orbit Around Moon

LONDON (AP) — A Soviet scientist predicted Thursday the placing of an artificial satellite into orbit around the moon will be the next big step forward in the conquest of space.

Nikolai Varvarov, described as an authority of astronautics, said this would be followed by the soft landing of instrument packages on the moon, round trips by unmanned rockets and finally manned flights.

"Manned flight to the moon's surface," he wrote in the periodical Economic Gazette, "will be preceded by a manned flight around the moon and return to earth."

The article, quoted by the news agency Tass, said such flights could be accomplished in the present stage of rocket technology only by placing stocks of fuel into orbit around the earth as refueling stations.

Inside You And Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Cures for the Sick Hospital

HAVE YOU ever felt like jamming that hospital bill down someone's throat?

You had to wait long, lonesome hours for those lightning sixty-second back rubs. The empty pitcher at your bedside raised tiny doubts about a water shortage. And still they've got the nerve to charge you $26.50 a day for a closet they call a room!

Dr. Fern

Such tardy care and prompt billing has turned into a giant medical headache which no aspirin can cure. Back-breaking and ulcer-causing, this headache is now under medical attack. Several operations have already been tried.

Round Hall

The medical roundhouse which keeps nurses going in circles looks promising. Instead of a long corridor with rooms on either side, the round hospital hall looks more like a dance floor.

In the center is a long desk where a nurse looks out on all twelve rooms around the rim. She watches every patient as closely as a special private nurse. And this service doesn't cost extra.

Close To All

At her desk, the nurse is close to every room. Patients know when she is available. Hospital routine loses that potato-race quality.

In tomorrow's hospital—and in some of today's—you won't find a special surgical floor or lush private rooms for wealthy patrons. Instead, the doctor will prescribe your room as part of the treatment.

Here's how it works:

Emergency cases are rushed to a special section where every nurse is an expert. If you need close watching, you'll be in an open ward. For quiet rest, you may be assigned a private room. And to ease the change, you'll stop off in a semi-private room en route.

At the other end of the hospital is the do-it-yourself section. If you're well enough to take a shower each morning, you shouldn't be wasting the nurse's time with back rubs. In this self-care section, patients can practice living at home.

Average Care

Between these two extremes lies an intermediate section for patients who need average hospital care. Here, nurses no longer burdened by patients who can take care of themselves find time to tend every patient promptly.

This hospital is a whirlpool of motion, with patients moving from room to room as they get better. Each promotion means a bonus; the more you do, the less you pay.

Elevator Rooms

Not every new idea is so down-to-earth. Someone has suggested an ultra-modern hospital where every room is an elevator. If you must go for X-rays on the first floor, your nurse merely pushes a button and your room drops into the X-ray department.

This vertical life could have complications. What could be worse than a husky man winding up on the maternity floor just because his nurse pressed the wrong button?

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of The Mercury.

Firemen Fight Against Threat of Plant Disaster

the magnesium would burn indefinitely. "We'll be here well into the morning," he said.

* * *

Fire police keeping everyone but firemen more than a quarter-mile from the blaze said Kawecki engineers had been admitted, but officials expected no report on the origin of the blaze or the damage cost.

Pumpers drawing from Swamp creek forced water to the fire through thousands of yards of hose.

Chief Kline said the blaze was being fought with "fog"—a fine, forced water spray. Streams of water were being played on the ammonia tanks. Chemical foam was used on the magnesium, Chief Kline said, but it was quickly expended.

The company was formed in 1950 and experienced considerable success in its chemical sales. The success was reflected in a rise in stock value from approximately $11 per share at the start to about $93 at present.

Approximately 400 persons were employed at the plant which comprised 14 buildings.

A violent explosion occurred in mid-July, 1955, injuring one worker seriously and causing $35,000 damage. The 1955 explosion, heard for a mile around the countryside, knocked out the entire rear wall of one building and part of the front wall. It was the company's first major accident but did not result in fire.

The first firemen arrived at 12:15 a. m. today, to assist a small fire-fighting squad always on duty inside the plant.

After the Gilbertsville Fire company, the New Berlinville, Sassamansville and all Boyertown companies arrived. the Second Alarmers from Willow Grove stood by.

Chief William Levengood of the Gilbertsville company and Chief Leonard Shellenberger, Keystone of Boyertown, directed the 75 men working in the fire line. Another 100 to 150 firemen were in reserve.

After the first "shift" moved off at 1:15 a. m., another group of firemen went inside the confines of the plant.

With the nearest homes almost a quarter-mile away across open fields, no evacuation was put in force.

REPORTERS arriving at the scene shortly before 12:30 a.m. were told by the wiremen within the plant were "ready for anything to happen . . . it might go any moment."

These firemen, coming off the line, reported they couldn't remember encountering "such heat like that" before.

Kawecki is in the midst of an expansion program. Within the last year and a half it has petitioned the Securities Exchange Commission for permission to issue new stock for improvements and growth.

Much of its work is guarded by high-security measures, and employes working in three shifts around the clock must present credentials before entering a gate some distance from the nearest plant buildings.

Fire Glow in Sky Alarms Residents

The brilliant red glow in the sky that resulted from the Kawecki Chemical company fire Thursday night attracted the attention of countless residents in a wide area.

At least 150 persons called The Mercury to ask about the blaze. The series of calls started shortly after the fire broke out and continued throughout the early morning.

Family Spends Night of Terror As Fire Endangers Ammonia Tanks

The terror of fire out of control was experienced by many residents of the partially settled area around the plant, among them the Harvey Snyder family at Swamp Creek road and County Line road.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder were awakened by fire sirens outside their home a quarter of a mile from the raging fire.

Mrs. Snyder spotted the flames and the couple quickly realized that they came from the chemical plant.

Evacuation of the home and flight to a safer distance seemed imperative at once.

The children, Bonita, 7, and Linda, 4, were wakened and quickly dressed in warm clothing.

THROUGH THE haste of getting ready to leave Snyder remembered the huge tanks of ammonia he had hauled into the plant. He knew the gas was highly explosive.

Before the couple could leave the house Mrs. Snyder looked out a window and saw her escape cut off. Traffic was jammed into the area, lined up out of sight along both roads around the home.

The family was forced to sit in terror in the house and pray that the ammonia would not explode.

A red steady light spread into the Snyder living room, adding constantly to the family's terror of what could happen.

Snyder knew that the burning magnesium was near the highly explosive ammonia. He knew that as many as 15 of the two ton tanks were kept in the plant before.

Later, when the danger had passed, Snyder learned that his fear was justified.

Ammonia tanks were not far from the burning magnesium. The presence of the combustible gas was the chief danger caused by the fire.

cil's contributions of the past five years to 27.

Repainting of homes and other buildings in Penn Village will be finished next week, Burdan said. He submitted an additional list of items for painting, fence repair and additional sidewalks for authority approval but action on the matter was tabled.

The authority awarded a refinancing contract to the First National City bank of New York for $568,000 in short term loans. The loans were refinanced to secure a lower interest rate of 1.49 percent. Three other New York banks bid.

Payment of the following amounts in lieu of taxes was authorized: for the current fiscal year: Pottstown borough, $2671; Pottstown school district, $4580; Montgomery county treasurer, $257, and the County Institutional district, $51.

The amount of payment is determined by percentages of the Penn Village shelter-rent income.

President Robert C. Yoder, Pottstown, was in charge of the meeting.

stallation of the automatic gates will "increase the safety factor," as well as saving the company approximately $30,000 a year in salaries after the gates are paid for.

"Trains which now pass at peak traffic periods now cause serious traffic congestion," Reynier explained. "With the installation of the mechanical gates conditions can only worsen."

He pointed out that if there is any mechanical failure the gates will lock shut until a railroad employe can be located.

"And no one knows how long that would take," he added.

Let me show you how to get better roses, more continuous bloom

With roses, the surprising secret of more blooms is—more leaves! Now—with the new Scotts Rose Program—it's so easy to keep foliage strong and healthy, even a beginner enjoys success.

This amazing applicator is the key. It's called the Scotts Zephyr, and it's designed to apply new HAZE—Scotts all-in-one protection against insects and disease.

The HAZE container fits snugly in the Zephyr. Nothing to mix, measure, fill or spill. To apply, just point the deflector at the base of the rose bushes, turn the crank gently, and walk along the bed. An atomized dry mist envelops the plant—depositing a nearly invisible HAZE film on both tops and undersides of the leaves.

Come see and save. You'll find these new Scotts Rose Program products at our big SUCCESS WITH ROSES display.

Your Horoscope

The Stars Say— By ESTRELLITA

For Today

This day favors the accomplishment or difficult tasks; also the completion of long-pending matters. Do not over-tax yourself, however, and, in leisure hours, devote yourself to some quiet and relaxing pastime rather than in pursuit of hectic pleasures.

For The Birthday

If today is your birthday, the coming year should provide some excellent opportunities for future gain. As a Taurean, you are endowed with a lot of ingenuity; are also practical and persevering. Harnessing these fine traits, you should go far—especially since 1961's all-over planetary influences recommend the making of practical plans for the future and the patience to wait for long-term results.

Mid-June and late September should show some results, but you may have to wait until December for complete returns from your efforts.

You may encounter some confusing situations in personal relationships, so be especially tactful in dealings with both family and friends—especially during this month and November. For the single, the balance of 1961 should prove propitious for romance and/or marriage, and early July will be excelent for travel. Look for some good news in a property matter in mid-June..

A child born on this day will be endowed with the qualities needed to make an excellent artist, musician or scientist.

BOONE BOARD VOTES LIMITED EXPANSION

before the board Thursday night. But the objection of Amity township board members to the Maple Springs site was implicit in their refusal to vote for a motion that awarded the contract for test borings at the site in preparation for the start of school construction. The contract was awarded, 9 to 4.

THE TRANSPORTATION solution for easing crowded conditions in the elementary schools was "the best that can be worked out under the circumstances without half-day sessions or special buildings," said Raymond S. Elliott, Policy committee chairman. The committee earlier suggested half-day sessions or construction of quonset huts as alternatives.

The adopted plan calls for Amity again to rent three rooms at St. Gabriel's Episcopal church, Douglassville. In addition, 64 Amity Sixth graders will be transported each day to the Lincoln building in Birdsboro, and approximately 20 Sixth and Fifth graders of Union township will be transporated to the Lincoln building. The transportation costs will be shared by the three districts of the jointure.

The additional room at the Lincoln building will be provided through conversion of a large currently idle room into two classrooms. The plan is subject to approval by the Department of Public Instruction.

The jointure came a step closer to starting construction of its proposed $2 to $2.5 million Junior-Senior High school by awarding the contract for test borings to Sprague and Hinwood company, Scranton.

THE COMPANY was the only one of four bidders to submit an equal bid for boring through both earth and rock. By having similar rates for all boring the school district will eliminate any need for determining how many linear feet of rock or how many feet of earth the bores pass through, explained Elmer Adams, architect. The Scranton firm was hired on his recommendation.

Four of the five Amity members reaffirmed a position they took three months ago against having the borings at the Maple Springs site by voting against awarding the contract. The only Amity member to vote for it was Raymond S. Elliott. The motion also authorized Reading engineer Walter Spotts to make surveys for determining where the borings shall be made.

Following a request by the Amity board, the directors formed a six man committee to "study the installation" of a merit rating pay system for teachers of the jointure. Named to the committee were J. Richard Long and Robert C. Kissling, Union township; Robert M. Smith and Herman G. Musser, Birdsboro, and John E. Sloat and Earl D. Rhoads, Amity.

Hired as teachers for the next school year were Mrs. Mildred Harris, Birdsboro RD, to teach elementary classes, and Edward Cashmore, Fairfield, to teach music in the secondary schools.

RESIGNATIONS were accepted from Mrs. Molvene Kashner and Robert Weiler. The latter is resigning only as track coach and will continue as physical education director.

Hired as an elementary reading supervisor for the entire jointure was William Gerber, a former reading teacher. Gerber's salary is $400 above his former salary.

Gerber's promotion grew out of a recommendation by the Berks county superintendent of schools for paying "closer attention" to the status of the reading program in several classes. The recommendation, and several others, were conveyed in a four page report on a recent county inspection and evaluation of the jointure schools.

State Sen. Gus Yatron will oppose House bill 640, which would reduce State reimbursement, the directors learned from a letter. Yatron said he would oppose the bill when it reaches the State Senate.

If adopted the bill would stop State reimbursement to districts for closing old schools. It would mean an annual loss of $4200 to the Daniel Boone jointure.

ELLIOTT WAS elected treasurer for the next fiscal year after he was nominated by the present treasurer, Long.

President Elmer N. Schlegel cited figures showing that the jointure will spend approximately $358 for each of 17 pupils in the next fiscal year, some $47 per pupil below the State average.

Teachers' salaries alone will cost $270 per pupil with only $20 going for maintenance, repairs and upkeep of school plants.

Market Dips Sharply After Record Peak

NEW YORK (AP)—Profit taking held sway Thursday as the stock market backed away fairly sharply from its all-time peak. Trading was quite active.

Many of the basic steels, motors, nonferrous metals, rails, building materials and other cyclical issues which made Wednesday's advance possible were leaders in the decline.

At the same time the recent downtrend among glamour stocks in the electronics, missile and rocket fileds continued thus making the statistical picture more emphatic on the downside than it was Wednesday on the upside.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which Wednesday crossed the 700 line for the first time in history, remained narrowly above it today as this yardstick fell 4.38 to 701.14.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.20 to 251.40—a move exactly half of Wednesday's advance. Industrials fell 2, rails .70 and utilities .30.

An estimated $1.7 billion was clipped from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the decline in the AP average.

Of 1318 issues traded, however, declines outnumbered advances by 790 to 340. Market analysts contrasted this difference of 450 with the much narrower margin of 125 in favor of advances over declines Wednesday. New highs for the year totaled 70 and new lows 11.

Emphasis was taken away from the decline, however, by the decrease in volume to 4.61 million shares from Wednesday's 5.52 million.

Aside from normal profit taking, another factor in the decline was an expected decrease in the short position on the New York Stock Exchange. Since the short position represents future buying, its decrease is a bearish influence.

Eleven of the most active stocks declined, three advanced and one was unchanged, General Motors.

Avnet Electronics was the most active stock, rising 2½ to 48¼ on 65,400 shares.

Polaroid dropped 5 points. Losses of 3 points or more were shown by Northrop, Litton Industries and Zenith.

American Stock Exchange prices declined as volume dipped to 3.13 million shares from 3.14 million Wednesday.

WORLD STEEL OUTPUT DIPS 12 PERCENT

International Decline Laid to Conditions In U.S.

RUSSIAN, JAPANESE PRODUCTION IS UP

WASHINGTON, (AP) — World steel production in the first three months of 1961 dropped 12 percent from a year earlier to 86.3 million tons.

Reporting this Thursday, the Commerce department attributed most of the decline to the fact that U. S. output dropped sharply from January - March 1960 when steel inventories were being built up after the 1959 strike.

U. S. output in the first quarter of 1961 was 19.7 million tons compared with 34.7 million a year earlier.

There were sharp increases in Russian and Japanese production. Russian output increased from 17.7 million tons to 19 million and Japanese from 5.7 million to 6.8 million.

The report said "Japan continued to record the highest rate of increase, 19 percent.'"

Canadian production was down from 1.7 million tons to 1.4 million. In the Benelux countries, production fell from 3.7 million tons to 3.3 million because of the Belgian general strike in January.

West German output was up from 9.4 million tons to 9.7 million and French output rose from 4.8 million to 5.1 million.

Italy also showed a gain from 2.2 to 2.4 million. Production in the United Kingdom was down very slightly to just under 7 million.

Manufacturer Hits Kennedy Tax Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers found nothing right with President Kennedy's tax program Thursday and said no tax action would be better than steps of "a wrong and dangerous kind."

Charles R. Sligh Jr., executive vice president of NAM, joined a long list of witnesses who have asked the House Ways and Means Committee to revise drastically the administration's program.

The key portion of the Kennedy measure calls for $1.7 billion in tax credits to manufacturers who step up expansion and re-equipment beyond normal depreciation requirements in the next year.

Witnesses for wholesale and service businesses followed Sligh and endorsed the tax incentive principle but asked that it be expanded to encourage increased spending on inventory and receivables as well as productive machinery.

Sligh opposed the tax credit idea and all the other major suggestions in the administration proposals which are aimed at stimulating employment without appreciably reducing over-all tax revenue.

The NAM spokesman urged the committee to turn its back on the whole White House package and act instead on other pending tax legislation calling for step-by-step income tax reduction, higher depreciation allowances and lower estate and gift taxes.

These latter actions, he said, would release capital and create jobs whereas the Kennedy proposals, if enacted, would "create more problems than they cure."

George W. Kauffman, Columbus Ohio, drug wholesaler, endorsed the incentive tax credit idea. But he said, as written, the bill would not solve the problems of "those of us concerned with the distribution of the products of the mass production system of this country."

Frank E. Barnett, vice president of the Union Pacific Railroad and spokesman for the Association of American Railroads, urged liberalization of depreciation allowances on railroad property and repeal of the passenger fare tax.

Wall Street News and Views

Breaking of Magic Dow Barrier Sparks Hope of Greater Advance

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—When the Dow Jones industrial average darted above 700 for the first time, it stimulated Wall Street expectations that further advance is ahead.

The average of 30 stocks crossed the so-called magic line Wednesday, registering its fourth consecutive daily advance.

L. O. Hooper, analyst for W. E. Hutton & Co., saw in the high a suggestion that the stock market has completed nearly five weeks of consolidating operations and now may be ready to stage the usual summer advance.

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. feels that the new peak indicates that the investing public's desire to buy common stocks is such that purchases overcome all selling obstacles.

"The current signal has been a most positive one," he said, "and the accomplishment in extending the long term upward trend line speaks well for the market's position. The broad influence will continue to be of the constructive variety."

The market is technically poised to rather fully capitalize on the break-through with a swing to more new highs, commented Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co.

"The principal characteristic of the advance," he said, "was the strength in the cyclical stocks, those issues most likely to advance on the mushrooming good news on the business front.

"Many quality shares which have been behind the market for weeks and months are now coming to the fore with steadily rising demand."

The second warning by Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, against unwise speculation continues to stir reaction in Wall Street.

Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co. took the occasion to add his own warning against buying a particular stock unless the value and prospects have been fully determined and appraised.

"Be certain to purchase values, not thin air or inflated hopes," he said. "Weigh all of the risks. Investigate before you invest."

Warnings against thoughtless speculation are perhaps "benefiting the more representative section of the list since they are doubtless tending to divert buying from the 'dream world' category," said A. M. Kidder & Co.

"Actually this kind of overspeculation has been in a sense bullishly significant since it attests to the interest and buying power of the general public."

N. Y. Stock Exchange Will Close Two Days

NEW YORK, (AP)—The New York Stock Exchange will close Monday, May 29, as well as Memorial day, Tuesday, May 30, the board of governors announced Thursday.

The board said the decision was made to give as many exchange community personnel as possible a four-day weekend.

Keith Funston, exchange president, said the Monday closing also will give the office staff of member organizations an opportunity to catch up on paper work generated by the recent high volume of trading on all securities markets.

He added that member organizations will be advised to staff their offices May 29 with the personnel necessary to clear up paper work, answer inquiries from other firms and effect deliveries in non-cleared securities.

Railroad Seeks Okay to Halt Passenger Line

TRENTON, N.J., (AP) — The Penn-Reading Seashore Lines announced Thursday it will ask the Interstate Commerce commission to discontinue all passenger train service.

On March 23, the State Public Utility commission authorized the line to abandon some trains but ordered that most of the commuter trains be kept in operation.

The line said its lawyers will file a petition to overrule the State agency in Washington today.

E. Paul Gangwere, president, said the passenger service already has been largely abandoned by the public and its total elimination would allow preservation of vital freight service.

Gangwere said that the line had a $6.4 million deficit in 1960. The parent companies, the Pennsylvania and the Reading railroads, advanced $3.8 million and $1.9 million to make up the losses, he said.

He said that the freight service provided by the carrier filled a genuine need in the area. But, he added, continuation of passenger trains could not be justified, even with the subsidy offered by the state.

Suspended Head of Bakers' Union Resigns; Awarded $900 Pension

WASHINGTON (AP)—James G Cross, suspended on corruption charges as president of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers union, resigned Thursday as an officer and union member.

The union's general executive board, in receiving the resignation, decided to give Cross his regular pension.

Herbert S. Thatcher, attorney for Cross, said the pension would be payable at about $900 monthly. Earlier Cross had sought a cash settlement of more than $250,000.

This equity was pledged by agreement, Thatcher said, against any amount that Cross might ultimately be found to owe to the union.

Cross was suspended last March by the union executive board, along with Secretary Treasurer Peter H. Olson, on grounds they misappropriated $35,000 union funds. Olson quit Wednesday.

Proceedings already are pending in federal court for a complete accounting of all union funds handled by Cross, Olson and other union officials. A wide expense account padding scheme has been charged to some executive board members.

The union was expelled from the AFL-CIO in 1957 on charges it was corruptly dominated. This followed senate rackets committee hearings into affairs of Cross and other union officers.

A union ouster trial for Cross had been scheduled for today. Thatcher said however he has written the union saying there is no further basis for a union trial, because of Cross' resignation, although the union may want to proceed against its ex-president in the courts.

White House Denies Paris Clothes Buy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House denied Thursday that Mrs. John F. Kennedy is buying any Paris clothes.

"It's rot," White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said of published reports that the First Lady still is making purchases from Paris couturiers.

He was asked about a Paris dispatch to Women's Wear Daily which said a Paris fashion house "has the First Lady's measurements" and clothes are sent without any fittings.

MILK BOARD FILES SUIT AGAINST SIX

Dealers Are Charged With Allowing Discounts

EQUITY BRIEFS ENTERED IN DAUPHIN COUNTY

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Milk Control commission Thursday charged six Philadelphia area milk dealers with allowing advertising discounts to wholesale customers.

The charges were contained in equity suits filed in Dauphin County court against Abbott Dairies, incorporated; Foremost Dairies, incorporated; Martin Century farms, incorporated; Pennbrook Milk company, incorporated; Shearer's Dairies, incorporated, and Sealtest Foods.

The commission said the discounts are illegal because, it claimed, they result in sales of milk at prices below those fixed by the commission.

SCIENCE OF COLD

Cryogenics is the science dealing with temperatures below 300 degrees Fahrenheit. The name comes from a Greek word meaning "icy cold."

Senate Committee Okays Increased Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee added an extra $200 million to President Kennedy's $4.79 billion all-purpose housing bill Thursday and sent it to the floor.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart, R-Ind., served notice he will contest some of the key provisions, including a controversial plan for government insured 40-year, no-down-payment mortgage loans.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., chief architect of the huge and complicated legislation, predicted it will be passed as written. The committee vote was 10-5, with Republicans and Democrats mixed.

Sparkman said the measure, one of Kennedy's top five priority bills, probably will be taken up in the Senate next week.

In a stopgap move, the House completed congressional action on a resolution giving the Federal Housing Administration an additional billion dollars in mortgage insurance authority and sent it to Kennedy.

The $200 million frosting which the Senate Banking Committee put on the housing bill cake would provide $100 million to begin a program of loans to cities to build or modernize mass transit facilities, and add another $100 million to a program of low-interest loans for college dormitories, raising the total authorized to $1.35 billion.

Area 'Pioneer' Continues Trip

Warren C. Holden, 58 year old Pughtown road, Pottstown RD 1 man taking the offensive against a near fatal stroke by reliving the "prairie schooner" days of a century ago, continued on his 300 mile trek Thursday through the Chesapeake bay towns of Eastern Maryland.

Holden, at the reins of his converted covered wagon and two horse team, left Stricklersville, near Newark, Del., early Thursday morning.

At 4 p. m. he reached Elkton, Md., then crossed the Great Bohemia river and drove another 15 miles south to Cecilton where he stopped for the night.

A retired tree surgeon, he is so pleased with his progress that he has decided to go beyond his original destination of Berlin, Md., and end his trip at Pocomoke City. He started the trip Monday.

Murder Probe Again Centers In Virginia Town

The Blakely home stands empty and shuttered. A neighbor boy mowed the yard, cut tall weeds, groomed the tulip beds Thursday.

After searching the dwelling at 42 Chestnut street, with a figurative fine-tooth comb, authorities have found no new leads in the double killing of Mr. and Mrs. Paige Russell Blakely Sr., found shot to death in their second floor bedroom March 28.

So the attention focuses once again on Augusta Springs, Va. Here, in Mr. Blakely's old hometown, many relatives live.

Pottstown Det. Sgt. Thomas A. Lawler and County Det. Julius Roehner already spent 10 days there seeking leads, returning a week ago. Assistant District Attorney Thomas Waters joined the probe briefly.

SGT. LAWLER and Det. Roehner returned to the mountain hamlet Thursday, accompanied by State Trooper Thomas Cuff, to continue their search for clues to a murderer.

The decision to pursue the case in Augusta Springs was made after a morning conference which included Lawler, Roehner, Cuff, Pottstown Police Chief Harold E. Hahn, District Attorney Harold E. Spencer, Chief of County Detectives Charles Moody and other State Police and county law officers.

Chief Hahn said the three investigators would be in Augusta Springs an "indeterminate" time. "It may be three days or it may be a week," he guessed.

Since the first trip to the Blue Ridge mountain area, the authorities reported tests revealed the Blakelys were given knockout drops before they were shot. A folded quilt found covering the face of the dead Mrs. Blakely may indicate an attempt to smother her.

POLICE DETERMINED the killer muffled the small-calibre pistol shots with the spread.

They experimented inside the Blakely home and discovered the gun reports could barely be heard outside.

A metal strongbox was found with its key locked inside. Otherwise it was empty. Moody explained the box cannot be locked without the key. Thus, someone has another key. It was found nowhere in the house.

Police assume the box may have contained a will. No will has been discovered yet. It was not in a bank safety deposit box nor was it in another strongbox in the home with insurance policies and other personal effects.

Authorities repeat a request that anyone who may have information about the case please come forward. Information being sought includes:

Was anyone seen entering or leaving the Blakely home Sunday, March 26; Monday, March 27; or Tuesday, March 28?

Did any druggist or doctor not previously contacted draw a prescription for chloral hydrate, the "knockout drops?"

Did any attorney or law firm draw up a will for the Blakelys—any attorney not previously contacted by police?

THE AUTHORITIES admit they are stumped so far—tracking down every possible lead and recovering all ground already covered.

Meanwhile, the Blakely yard got its first grooming since the double slaying. Daniel Wien, 14, of 40 Chestnut street, is employed by the trustees for the Blakely estate to keep the property in shape.

PINEAPPLE IS NAMED

As well as discovering the New World, Christopher Columbus is credited with discovering the pineapple. He named it pine because of its resemblance to a pine cone.

Salvation Army Brigadier Urges Citadel Support

The big bass drum is a familiar symbol of The Salvation Army in Pottstown.

As National Salvation Army week, which is being observed from Sunday to May 28 this year, approaches, posters heralding the week have appeared all over town. Theme of the posters is "Beating the Big Bass Drum Isn't a One Man Job in Our Town."

"It certainly does take more than one to beat the drum in our community," Brigadier Paul White commented.

"Without the help of many public-spirited citizens, who give generously of their time and efforts, we could never provide the Salvation Army services which we now offer. We are grateful for the loyal support of those citizens who, through the years, have been helping us 'beat the drum'. We deeply appreciate the support of our Advisory Board, and all others who contribute to and support our program, through the Pottstown United Funds.

"We cannot," Brigadier White added, "observe National Salvation Army week without recognizing and paying tribute to those who support our program.

"We hope, too, that everyone will visit us during Salvation Army week and become better acquainted with our program."

JOHNSON TALK WITH NEHRU ABOUT INDIA

Vice President Plans Visit to Taj Mahal

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru met for nearly four hours Thursday on problems of India's third five-year development plan—an economic buildup needing about a billion dollars a year in foreign support. No commitments were reported.

* * *

The two may meet again Friday for a final session on Johnson's swing through south Asia.

Johnson and his wife then will make a tourist pilgrimage to the Taj Mahal, the architectural gem built by the Shah Jehan as a monument to his favorite wife at Agra 120 miles south of Delhi.

Johnson delivered a warm letter from President Kennedy to Nehru and later dined with a small party as guests of Nehru. Before dinner at the prime minister's house, Nehru introduced his 8-week-old tiger cubs, Rani and Raja (Princess and Prince).

Emphasis on Johnson's visit appeared to be on informality, in contrast to the ceremonial triumph achieved by President Dwight D. Eisenhower on his visit here in December 1959.

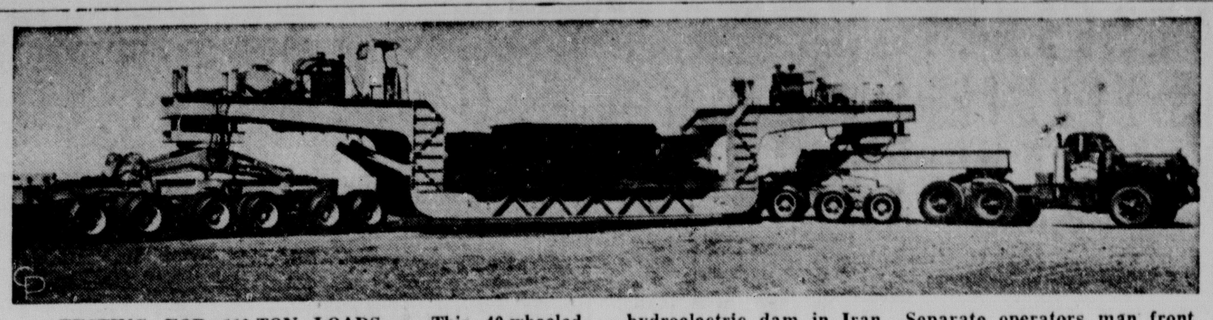

Johnson's only exposure to Indian crowds came on the drive to and from the 300-year-old Red Fort in Old Delhi, a key position in the Indian sepoy (soldier) mutiny against the British in 1857.

On this drive, the vice president twice left his car to chat with crowds and learned of Hindi words—jai hind (long live India).

A communique summing up the Nehru-Johnson talks is expected before the vice president goes on to Agra and Nehru leaves on a scheduled visit to his northeast frontier agency, near Red China.

U. S. officials said Nehru and Johnson covered India's five-year program and reported it needs about one billion dollars annually over the next four years in foreign exchange.

TESTING FOR 110-TON LOADS — This 40-wheeled, world's largest truck trailer is undergoing rugged testing with loads well over 110 tons in Chicago. The behemoth was constructed to carry electric generators to the new Dez River hydroelectric dam in Iran. Separate operators man front and rear tractors, while two other crew members operate steering engines above the front and rear wheel "bogies." The operators must use telephones to converse on the vehicle.

Doctor Says Candidate for Sheriff Was 'Under Influence of Some Drug'

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—A doctor testified Thursday that George Ratterman, a reform candidate for Campbell County sheriff, appeared to have been "under the influence of some drug" a few hours after he was arrested in a hotel room with a strip-tease dancer.

The testimony came from Dr. Carl Anderson of nearby Fort Thomas, the Ratterman family physician, in the second day of Ratterman's trial on charges of breach of peace, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Dr. Anderson told of having blood and urine samples taken at St. Luke Hospital but, under a ruling by Police Court Judge Joseph S. Rolf, he was not permitted to tell of a verbal report on results of tests made of the specimens.

Ratterman has claimed he was framed and drugged and has said the blood tests showed the presence of chloral hydrate.

Earlier, Ratterman himself was on the witness stand.

Ratterman and Juanita Jean Hodges, 26, were found by Newport detectives May 9 in a room of the Glenn Hotel after police said they received an anonymous tip that prostitution was going on.

Both Ratterman and Miss Hodges were only partly clad, police have testified. They were in the suite of Tito Carinci, manager of the hotel and the Tropicana, a night club in the same building.

Ratterman, a former pro football player, was chosen last April 4 as candidate for sheriff by the Committee of 500, a reform group pledged to fight alleged vice conditions in Campbell County.

In his testimony, Ratterman said that on April 5, the day after he became a candidate, Carinci sought through Thomas Paisley of Medina, Ohio, a mutual friend, to arrange a meeting with the candidate.

Ratterman has said he was led to believe Carinci wanted to get out of the gambling business.

He said he had known Carinci since 1953 but had not seen him for two years.

His only testimony about circumstances leading to his arrest was that he and Paisley had a drink and dinner in Cincinnati and then went to the Glenn to meet Carinci.

Ratterman also testified that Carinci even went to Cleveland to see Paisley in an effort to arrange a meeting with Ratterman.

Henry Cook, Ratterman's attorney, said at the start of the trial Wednesday that he would seek to prove efforts to frame Ratterman were started shortly after he announced as a candidate for sheriff.

After the arrests, Miss Hodges was charged with prostitution and Carinci with breach of peace. Detectives said Carinci tried to prevent them from going to the third-floor suite where the officers found Ratterman and the dancer, whose stage name is April Flowers.

Ratterman has said he became groggy, fell asleep and that when he was awakened by the appearance of the detectives he found Miss Hodges also in the room.

Miss Hodges and Bonnie Greene, 22, another dancer, testified Wednesday they went to the room and joined Paisley and Ratterman for a drink. Miss Greene, whose stage name is Rita Desmond, said she and Paisley later went to her room.

House of Commons Backs Macmillan

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative government Thursday night survived two days of acrimonious debate and won a vote of confidence for its handling of foreign affairs.

The House of Commons rejected by 277-201 a labor amendment which sought to censure the government.

Laborites criticized the government for refusing to cancel the courtesy visit of a British warship to Portugal's Angola during troubles there, failing to base its foreign policy on the U. N. Charter, failing to promote cooperation between the Communist and Western worlds, and being hopelessly muddled on the question of entering the European Common Market.

Match Triggers Bus Explosion

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) —A passenger lit a match Wednesday night in an effort to find a relative imprisoned in an overturned bus.

Thirteen persons died in the ensuing explosion and flames from spilled gasoline.

The victims, all Venezuelans, included four men, four women and five children.

Rusk Leaves Laos Conference; Misses Pathet Talk Against U.S.

GENEVA (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk left the international conference on Laos for 45 minutes Thursday and missed a Pathet Lao tirade against the United States.

Other members in the American delegation also took a walk, including Rusk's deputy, Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman.

An American spokesman, with a straight face, denied the walk was intended as a snub to the Communist-led Pathet Lao rebels.

He said Rusk left to fill a previous engagement with Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state. The appointment with Sihanouk had not been previously announced.

Rusk did not dramatize his departure. He strolled from the chamber without flourishes.

Nevertheless, the American delegation's explanation of the incident caused raised eyebrows among other delegations but no official comment. One source said privately that the rules of the game in an international conference assume that nothing ever is done by accident.

The United States blames the Pathet Lao for most of the troubles of Laos and opposed the seating of the Red-tinged rebel group on a basis of equality with the pro-Western government of Premier Prince Boun Oum.

Rusk pointed out that the Pathet Lao was not even recognized as a government by the Soviet Union, but he finally accepted the Pathet Lao's presence at the conference to get talks going. The U.S.-recognized Boun Oum government, however, has been boycotting the conference.

Rusk was present when Indian delegate V.K. Khrishna Menon assailed the Soviet plan for enforcing peace in Laos — a plan with intertwined vetoes built in.

"We must have no veto arrangements," Menon said.

He urged the conference not to tamper with the present rules governing the Indian-Polish-Canadian International Control Commission which was given the job of enforcing peace by the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina. The commission was disbanded at the request of the Laotian government in 1958 but recently was reactivated and is now in Laos.

From this speech it seemed that Menon had lined up his country — the world's leading neutralist power — against the veto-loaded proposals introduced by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko Wednesday.

Menon also took a swipe at the Chinese Communists by declaring that this conference should devote itself to the problem of Laos alone. Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi has brought in other Southeast Asian problems, including South Viet Nam.

Menon told the conference the control commission is receiving the cooperation of Pathet Lao as well as Boun Oum's royal government and Prince Souvanna Phouma's neutralist rebels.

Leaders of these three groups are having political as well as cease-fire talks in a schoolhouse deep behind the rebel lines in Laos.

The talks in Laos were in abeyance. On Friday the three groups will meet again at Ban Namone to begin discussions on the possibility of forming a coalition government.

The real trouble in Laos, Menon said, was that the rules laid down seven years ago had not been respected by other countries. He did not name them.

Menon said India would go on providing men to work as peace inspectors in Laos.

He suggested outside economic and other aid for Laos might have to be funnelled through the control commission.

KENNEDY TRIP TO CANADA ACHIEVES AIM

Diefenbaker Agrees On Approach to Problems

OTTAWA (AP)—President Kennedy completed his first venture in traveling diplomacy Thursday. He went back to Washington assured of Canada's heightened concern with Cuba's impact on Latin America.

The chief executive's three-day visit appeared to have had a heavy impact on the United States' close neighbor and friend. It seemed to have brought Canada and the United States closer together, particularly in matters concerning the Western Hemisphere.

President Kennedy had been reported particularly interested in stepping up Canadian concern about the drift of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba to communism. The final communique of the visit, issued jointly by the President and Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker, indicated he had achieved this aim.

The joint statement said: "The President and prime minister discussed the need for accelerating economic progress and social reform throughout the hemisphere, as well as the need to strengthen the strong hemisphere turned away from dictatorship and toward democracy.

"They recognized that these objectives are closely related. They were in accord that the alignment of a regime in the Western Hemisphere with Communist leadership abroad was a matter for serious concern, threatening as it did the peaceful and democratic evolution of the Latin-American peoples. The prime minister assured the President of Canada's continued interest in inter-American affairs."

Canada, which continues to trade with Cuba, although on a small scale, has displayed less concern in the past with the ever-increasing ties of the Castro regime to world communism and the prospective strong Communist foothold in the Western Hemisphere.

As for the discussion of stepping up economic progress and social reform in Latin America, the Canadian government appeared on the whole to remain uncommitted specifically.

Premier of South Korea Submits His Resignation

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) Military rule settled firmly on South Korea Friday with the government of Premier John M. Chang and U.S. opposition swept aside.

American authorities here took strong stands against the military coup within hours after it broke Tuesday. But the junta leaders won the vital backing of all South Korea's armed forces and the 61-year-old premier formally resigned Thursday.

A 30-man committee was named to run the country. It is made up of military men headed by Lt. Gen. Chang Do-young, 38, army chief of staff.

Although the U.S. Embassy here and the American chief of the United Nations Command, Gen. Carter B. Magruder, publicly opposed the military takeover, U.S. sources said American recognition of the new regime is assured.

By getting Chang's formal resignation and keeping President Yun Po-sun on as chief of state, they said, the military junta resolved any issue of recognition. Official diplomatic links are with the chief of state, even though in South Korea this post is chiefly ceremonial.

Despite this apparent settling of the problem on the surface, there was no question that American authorities here were left in the position of having backed the wrong side.

Magruder's call for Korean military leaders to support the legally constituted government of Premier Chang was supported firmly by the U.S. charge d'affaires, Marshall Green. The words of both was ignored by the coup leaders.

Official Washington did not take sides. But the outcome—only a month after the Cuban invasion fiasco—was viewed by some as entailing a loss of face for Americans.

"If you must intervene," one Korean suggested, "do it only when the odds are better."

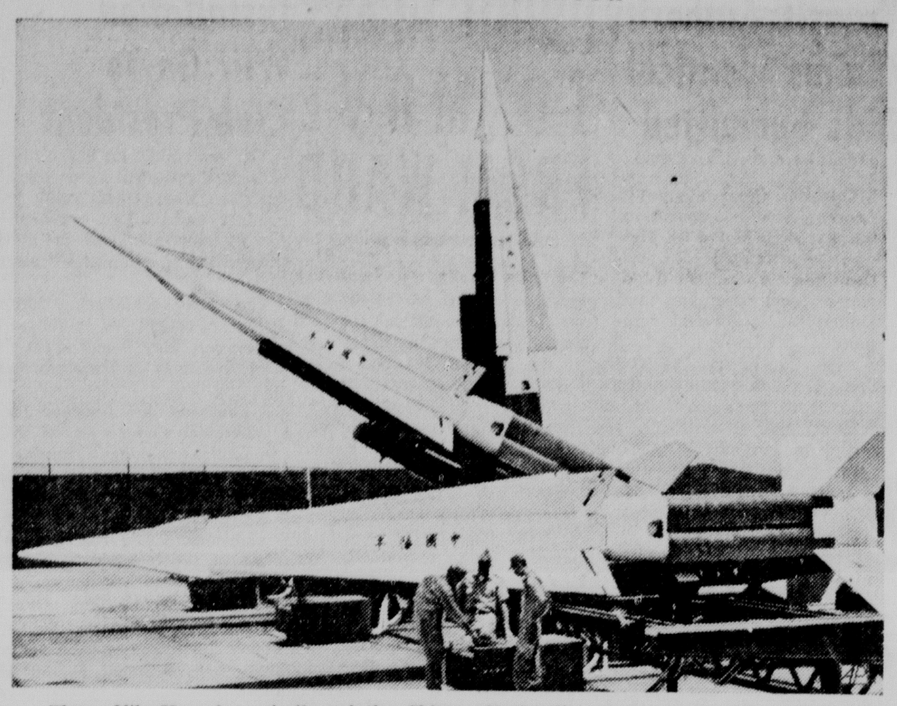

There were indications the United States, which has earmarked $253 million for South Korea's 1961 budget, would press for an early return to civil control. Its long-standing policy has been to stress the development of democratic processes for South Korea.

Two Project Mercury Tests Are Scheduled for June

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Space officials have scheduled two Project Mercury space launches next month—a second manned suborbital test and the orbiting of an unmanned spacecraft — it was learned reliably Thursday.

The orbit attempt, which could come as early as June 12, is to send a Mercury space capsule once around the world and return it to earth in a repeat of a shot which failed April 25 when the Atlas booster rocket veered off course and was destroyed.

The Redstone-boosted suborbital test is scheduled for about June 20. It will be similar to the pioneer flight of Alan B. Shepard Jr. on May 5 in which his capsule was fired 115 miles high and 302 miles down range.

The dates were reported by a source close to the project. A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration indicated the launches may come later.

Technical or other troubles could delay the firings indefinitely.

The test will check the compatibility of the Atlas with the capsule, the ability to return the craft from orbit and Mercury's 17-station world-wide tracking net work.

The capsule will carry an artificial astronaut — a small box which can "breathe, sweat and talk" like a human.

If the shot is successful, an empty capsule, a chimpanzee and then a man will be flung into orbits carrying three times around the world at 17,400 miles an hour.

X15 Rocket Plane Test Is Postponed

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Last-minute problems with test pilot Joe Walker's pressure suit caused postponement Thursday of his attempt to fly the X15 rocket plane to a record 3,400 miles per hour.

The flight was scheduled again for Friday morning.

The cancellation came two hours after Walker climbed into the cockpit of the X15, locked under the wing of its B52 mother ship. The B52 never moved away from its service area.

The present X15 record is 3,074 miles an hour, set by Air Force Maj. Bob White April 21.

The pilot on the suborbital flight —either John H. Glenn Jr. or Virgil I. Grissom—will perform different in-flight assignments than Shepard and test out various components of the 3,000-pound capsule.

Glenn, Grissom and Shepard were picked as a three-man team to train for the first two suborbital missions.

The short up-and-down flights are designed to learn how man can operate in space and to provide the astronauts with flight training for later orbital tests.

The effort to orbit the capsule will be a key step in American plans to orbit an astronaut this year, a feat achieved by the Soviet Union's Yuri A. Gagarin in April.

Red Security Police Break Currency Ring

MOSCOW (AP) — Security police have arrested nine persons accused of participating in the biggest currency speculation ring in the Soviet Union's postwar criminal history, the government announced Thursday.

The Soviet State Security Committee said the nine speculated to the tune of two million rubles—a little over $2 million at the official rate—buying foreign currency and gold from tourists and other Soviet citizens and then reselling at higher prices.

All nine were indicted and held for trial. No other details were given.

RED GENERALS KILLED IN PLANE MISHAP

'Catastrophe' Report Issued by Soviet Ministry

MOSCOW (AP) — A decorated Soviet general of World War II, three other generals and a colonel have been killed in an aircraft accident, the Defense Ministry said Thursday.

Most prominent victim was Vladimir Y. Kolpakchi, an army full general on the Ministry of Defense staff, who led the Soviet 69th Army in the final assault on Berlin.

A terse dispatch by Tass, the official news agency, gave no details of the accident or a clue as to when it happened. It said the officers were killed "while on active duty."

(A Russian-language version from Tass received in London referred to an "aviation catastrophe," indicating that many more lives were lost.)

The other officers who perished were identified as: Col. Gen. S.N. Perevertkin, Artillery Lt. Gen. V.I. Godfe, Maj. Gen. A.P. Morozov, and Col. V.V. Khikhlovsky.

Kolpakchi, 62, was a member of the Bolshevik forces fighting in the Revolution of 1918 that toppled the czarist regime. A graduate of the Soviet Advance Training School for Officers, the outbreak of World War II found him a lieutenant general. He fought on the Smolensk front where the first Nazi smash toward Moscow was halted.

In the comeback drive of the Soviet army in 1943 he was credited with the recapture of Orel southwest of Moscow. For this and operations on the Polish and other fronts he won a number of decorations. At the end of the war he ranked as a colonel general. He was appointed to the defense staff in 1956.

Little is known about the other officers.

The secrecy surrounding the announcement was reminiscent of the report last Oct. 25 of Marshal Nitrofan Nedelin's death in an "aviation accident." Nedelin was commander in chief of Soviet forces. His death led to speculation that he may have died in the accidental explosion of a Soviet rocket.

Princess Will Graduate From Brownie Status

LONDON (AP) — Princess Anne, 10, has proved her proficiency in a variety of chores and will graduate from the Brownies to the Girl Guides, Buckingham Palace said Thursday.

The princess will join the palace's first company of Girl Guides (Girl Scouts). Her mother, Queen Elizabeth II, once was a member.

The palace said the princess won both her second- and first-class Brownie badges by: making a fire at 6 a.m. in the palace nursery where the infant Prince Andrew sleeps, cooking a meal of sausages, cleaning a very dirty pair of shoes (hers), binding a parcel and addressing it for mail, making a cup of tea, knitting a pair of bootees, and showing proficiency with compass and flag signaling.

Transit Authority Claims Identical Bids Submitted

Bethlehem Steel company, Armco Steel corporation, Standard Steel Works division of Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton corporation, Edgewater Steel company and United States Steel company.

"The authority members believe that the existing pattern may constitute a violation of the law, and accordingly, requested me to call it to your attention for whatever action the facts may warrant," Scannell explained.

THE AUTHORITY, which operates the vast publicly owned bus and subway system in New York City, said it purchases about $922,000 worth of steel car wheels a year.

In Albany, State Controller Arthur Levitt set in action an investigation of possible anti-trust law violations in a State purchase of $336,000 worth of tires and tubes.

In a report to the Attorney General, he noted that identical bids were received on 45 of 47 purchase categories. The five companies were Firestone, B. F. Goodrich Tire company, General Tire and Rubber company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber company and United States Rubber company.

Goodyear was awarded the bus and truck-tire contract for a total of $247,000 and Goodrich received the passenger-tire contract for $89,000.

The transit authority also reported identical bids from 1955 to 1960 on cable used to conduct electricity from power plants to subway trains. It uses about $150,000 worth of cable a year.

The companies listed are American Steel Wire, Anaconda Wire, General Cable, Okonite, Phelps Dodge, J. L. Roebling and Chase Brass and Copper company.

PIPKO PLANS TO MOVE FROM WARD

Thursday night. "I hope we won't be moving before the next one. I'd like to attend that too before resigning."

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Pipko, have their eyes on a new house at 332 West King street. They've tentatively sold their house at 445 Cherry street. The move will bring them into the new Third ward.

"The papers still have to be signed," Pipko explained, "but it is almost 100 percent certain."

PARTY CHAIRMAN Joseph A. Suchoza called the decision a sudden one and said he only heard rumors of it for the first time Wednesday night.

JEROME PIPKO

"I guess we'll have to find a new councilman," he added.

Pipko was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Elmer Panoc, who married and also moved to another ward. His appointment was announced on April 27 by Guy J. Sperat Jr., Fourth ward councilman and committeeman.

His appointment continued the Democratic youth movement. Panoc and Sperat were both 27 years old when they were named to council. Suchoza, who represented the Third ward for two years, was 28 years old when he was appointed to fill a vacancy.

Pipko was sworn in at the May council meeting by Sperat in the absence of Burgess John B. Hartenstine Jr. He was escorted to the desk of Council President J. Wayne Knause and received a warm round of applause after accepting the council oath.

He described the moment "as the happiest and proudest in his life."

HE SAID nothing during the council meeting and his only vote was an affirmative one on a motion to adjourn. "Not too spectacular a start," he laughed after the meeting.

He graduated from Pottstown High school in 1952 and worked as a file inspector at Doehler-Jarvis division, National Lead company, until his induction into the Army in 1955. He was discharged after two years service as a corporal.

Following the discharge Pipko attended the Peirce Business school in Philadelphia and graduated in 1959. During the past two years he worked for the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Installation Will Go to Club President

You can't have an organization without a president — so the Industrial Management club will conduct installation ceremonies for its new president in Pottstown hospital tomorrow morning.

The new president, Gordon Brickner, caught his thumb in a power saw May 9 and spent the next five days in Pottstown hospital.

Thursday he returned for additional surgery on the thumb — making it impossible to attend tonight's installation dinner at the YMCA. So tomorrow morning the club oficers will trek to room 246 at the hospital to install him.

As far as hospital officials, Brickner and club members know, it's the first time such a thing has happened at the hospital.

But as one club officer noted: "You can't have the Indians without the chief."

THOSE WHO will be installed tonight and hear Dr. Armand G. Sprecher speak on "Medicine — Past, Present and Future" are: Howard M. Long, first vice president; Thomas Lamison, second vice president; Joseph Knauer, recording secretary; Kenneth Shaeffer, treasurer; and David Cooper, executive secretary.

Dr. Sprecher is a practicing physician specializing in rheumatology. A graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, he is vice president of the Philadelphia Kiwanis club and a past district governor of Toastmasters International.

Senate Blocks School Aid Bill Debate Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders were balked Thursday in an attempt to work out an agreement to limit debate on the $2.55-billion school aid bill.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who sought the agreement, reacted by announcing the Senate would start work at 9 a.m. Friday and hold night sessions next week. This is three hours ahead of the usual starting time.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., an opponent of any federal aid to education measure, blocked the first attempt to win a debate limitation agreement. These agreements require unanimous consent.

Later, Goldwater relented and a second attempt was made. This time several senators objected after a civil rights argument was injected.

The Arizona senator, in blocking the first try at an agreement, said he felt the issues were so important they should be debated three weeks or more.

The Senate started debate last Tuesday on the controversial legislation, which is high on President Kennedy's 1961 legislative list. Little progress has been made so far; only two votes were taken in the first three days.

Up for consideration Thursday was a proposal of Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N. H., to substitute for the bill a plan of allotting to each state for education, three cents of each eight cents in tax collected on a pack of cigarettes in that state.

This would make available an estimated $682 million a year. It is not considered to have any chance of adoption.

Then Mansfield proposed two hours debate on each school aid amendment and 12 hours on final passage of the bill. When some senators with amendments protested, he increased the time for these to four hours.

Goldwater said he needed much more time for each of two amendments he is sponsoring—one to eliminate any teacher salary aid from the bill and the other to add loans for private schools.

In the argument the threat of a segregation fight again reared up.

Republican senators demanded assurances that the Kennedy administration was not going to accept an amendment such as one sponsored by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., to ban the withholding from any state of funds in the bill.

Mansfield declared there was no commitment to accept any such amendment. And Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., floor manager for the bill, insisted he was not accepting any such language.

Government Charges Three Men With $1,562,000 Embezzlement

NEW YORK (AP) — Three men were indicted on federal charges Thursday in the fantastic milking of an Oklahoma bank for $1,562,000. The financial blow wrecked the institution.

The government said the trio used about half the money embezzled from the Capitol Hill State Bank in Oklahoma city to buy a majority of the stock in the same bank.

"In effect, the purchase of the bank's stock was achieved by use of its own funds," said Asst. U.S. Atty. Stephen E. Kaufman.

Examiners for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. uncovered the case and the bank was forced to close last July 29. Depositors escaped loss because of federal insurance on their deposits. A new bank has since been chartered to replace the old one.

The three men named in a federal grand jury indictment were James R. Freeling, 36, former president of Capitol Hill; John L. Houlihan, 48, former chairman; and Martin Legere, 47.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau called the case "one of the most serious and flagrant cases of the misapplication of bank funds by a bank officer to come to official attention."

The three men were accused of mail fraud, wire fraud, interstate transportation of stolen property, and bank embezzlement. The charges carry a total maximum penalty of 25 years in prison and $17,000 in fines.

Kaufman said that last July Freeling transferred the $1,562,000 in securities and cash from Capitol Hill to Legere, who was president of the Grand Bahama Bank & Trust Co. The transaction was made through the Hanover Bank of New York.

The Bahamian government had chartered the Grand Bahama Jan. 8, 1960, with Legere as its president and Houlihan as board chairman.

Kaufman described its assets as "a rented room in the Bahamas which, because the bank had never done any business, did not even contain records or furniture."

The government attorney said $742,000 was used to purchase stock in Capitol Hill, after which Houlihan took over as chairman of the Oklahoma bank and Freeling continued as president.

Kaufman said another $460,000 was siphoned off for the benefit of two companies in Dallas, Tex., of which Houlihan was the principal stockholder. They were identified as the Midwestern Security Life Insurance Co. and the Midwestern Security Corp. The Texas state insurance receiver-liquidator currently is suing Houlihan and Legere to recover $356,755 which it claims was drained from the two Dallas companies.

Kaufman, who did not make a complete accounting of the $1,562,000 taken from the Oklahoma bank, said another $71,346 was used to buy an airplane.

The three men were ordered to plead to the indictment May 25.

When you want to withdraw, you can immediately, and your money is insured for up to $10,000 for each account. Your money is not loafing, either! It's out in the community, helping Pottstown grow with new building, expansion programs and other worthwhile jobs. First Federal Savings and Loan Association offers personal, friendly help with your individual money problems or questions. They are never too busy to discuss your plans or to explain something that puzzles you. Perhaps it's a mortgage; maybe you are wondering about a new business; or is it a loan; or the right amount to save to be sure you have enough for the children's college? Whatever your personal needs may be, the people at First Federal will take time to give you expert advice or to offer suggestions—and of course there's no charge! I particularly like the "College Club Savings Account Plan" where First Federal helps you decide how much you will need, how long a time you have to save and how much you can reasonably afford to save. With the definite goal in mind, it's fun to save and plan for those higher educations! The nice part about this plan is that you can skip a deposit if an emergency occurs, or you can withdraw your money (plus the 4% it has earned) if you really need it, and there's no penalty. Completing a College Club Plan, and seeing your son or daughter off to college is a great satisfaction—one First Federal is proud of, too. Helping the community in every way is the primary purpose of First Federal Savings and Loan Association!

Operation of Mental Health Clinic Described for West Pottsgrove PTA

Dr. Clarence R. Pentz, president of the board of the Pottstown Mental Health clinic, gave an informative talk on the operation and organization of the clinic at the West Pottsgrove Elementary Parent Teacher association meeting in the school cafeteria.

In his talk, Dr. Pentz said that one out of ten people suffer from some form of mental weakness or emotional upset in this country. The condition strikes at any age from babyhood to senility in many forms.

The local clinic was started on a "shoestring" in 1956 and operated one day a week with about 48 patients. Today it is operating on a full time basis, with full staff and a waiting lists of patients.

He pointed out that if help comes in time it may keep the child out of a mental institution and very often the trouble is not with the child but the parents.

Three hundred dollars was donated to the school toward the formation of a central elementary library in the building. They also donated $75 to the Band Boosters.

BEARS 'SHADE' DOWNINGTOWN

Shade Hurls 2d Shutout In Row, Allows 5 Hits

Dennis Shade pitched his second shutout in a row, and Ron Houck poked a third inning double to lead Boyertown High to a 1-0 win over Downingtown Thursday on the loser's diamond.

Shade—who pitched a shutout over Owen J. Roberts his last time on the mound—limited the Whippets to five hits to gain the win.

Losing chucker Bob French gave up only four hits in absorbing the loss. The downfall for French came in the top of the third. Houck connected with a double to centerfield to start the inning.

The Downingtown Third Baseman bobbled Bill Specht's grounder and Houck moved to third base. Specht stole second base and Downingtown elected to make a play at the keystone bag.

Specht was caught in a rundown but while Downingtown was making the play Houck raced home with what proved to be the winning run.

Shade had the Downingtown hitters under control with the exception of John Snyder, who collected two of the losers' five hits. The Whippets' best scoring effort of the fray came in the sixth inning.

Hunt Berryman socked a Shade delivery to deep center field, for a stand up triple. The Downingtown second sacker had a notion to go home but was caught in a rundown on the relay. Before Berryman could get back to third he was tagged out by catcher Jim Egolf.

Landis Triple In 7th Nets Chisox 6-4 Triumph Over Los Angeles '9'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Landis' tie-breaking triple in the seventh inning sent the Chicago White Sox on a 6-4 victory and the seventh straight loss for the Los Angeles Angels Thursday night before 3,740.

Roy Sievers got on base with one out in the seventh when a fast ball by Ryne Duren got by catcher Del Rice on the third strike. Landis followed with his triple and scored the final run on Sherm Lollar's single.

Duren still tied a major league record by striking out four batters in the seventh.

The other three strikeout victims were Minnie Minoso, J. C. martin and Sammy Esposito.

Walter Johnson, the old Washington Senators' immortal, and Guy Morton of Cleveland are the only other AL pitchers to fan four in one inning. Four National League pitchers have done it.

The White Sox scored two runs in the first inning on hits by Al Smith and Sievers, plus a walk.

The Angels tied it up in the second on a two-run homer by Rice. It was his first round tripper since 1958, when he was with Milwaukee.

The White Sox went ahead again in the third with two runs on successive singles by Sievers, Landis and J. C. Martin.

Rocky Bridges singled in two runs in the sixth to tie it up again but the score didn't last long.

Relief pitcher Frank Baumann, who relieved starter Billy Pierce in the sixth, got credit for the win. Duren was the loser.

The Angels had several chances to go ahead but clutch hitting was missing and in four innings they left two men stranded each time.

Raiders Clinch Section Crown as Whippets Bow, 1-0

At the same time, the Raiders were tightening up the cinch on their second straight Lower section title, which became a certainty after Boyertown shaded Downingtown, 1-0 on the Whippets' field.

The Raiders took advantage of shaky Pottstown High fielding to score twice, then unloaded the heavy lumber to drive Opalack from the mound before the inning was completed.

They added single tallies in the fourth, sixth and seventh to make the path easy for Bill Mendelhall, who allowed the Trojans but two hits, and beat them for the second time in as many meetings.

MENDENHALL also pitched against the Trojans in the championship game a year ago, and was also the winning moundsman.

The Trojans avoided a shutout by virtue of a fourth-inning run, as Bob Yeager banged a triple to the fence in left center field, which would have cleared the wire, but for a stiff wind.

Yeager then stole home, avoiding a tag by Raider Catcher Lee Moore, who had the plate blocked, but missed the tag.

Dave Matejkovic walked to start the Raiders on their victory path in the first. He attempted to steal second base, and went on to third when Catcher Barry Saylor's low throw skidded into center field.

TOM FLOOD — who had three hits in as many trips — then whacked a ground-rule double, which bounced over the fence in left, scoring Matejkovic.

Opalack fanned Mendenhall for the second out, but Jim Fisher grounded sharply to shortstop, and when Aubrey Henry hesitated with the throw, reached first safely.

First Baseman Eddie Laws then fired home in an effort to catch the sliding Flood, but the throw was dropped by Saylor.

Fisher then attempted to steal second, and Saylor's throw was muffed by Barry Rapp, and Leroy Lyons doubled Fisher home. Lee Moore singled sharply to left field, driving in Lyons, and took second when the throw came to the plate.

THIS SPELLED the end for Opalack, who was replaced by Ron Hallman. The reliever wild-pitched Moore to third, but fanned Jim Myern for the third out.

Hallman passed Myern to open the fourth, and the Raider left fielder stole second and scored on Flood's third hit, a single. Hallman however, picked Flood off first to retire the side.

Hallman had trouble only

The Point Spread . . .

The Lady's Route Is the More Dangerous

By WARREN HOWARD
(Mercury Sports Writer)

WHEN BOBBY MARSHMAN FINISHES his 10-lap time trial for a berth in the starting field of the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race tomorrow, he may come off the track as one of the season's most disappointed rookies.

But it won't be because he had turned 138 mph, and "felt certain" that he could generate the necessary 143 or so mph it would require to make the starting field of 33. He'll get his chance to prove it.

MRS. MARSHMAN

But this is not a story about Bobby Marshman, although, indirectly, it is. It's about a pretty girl, who not only happens to be Bobby Marshman's biggest booster (George Marshman notwithstanding), but also his wife, Janet.

The young Mrs. Marshman, a petite blond, expects to be at Indianapolis when her husband makes his trial run. She will drive the plus-500 miles, starting tonight, and every other weekend until Memorial day.

It makes for a slight interruption in the sleeping schedule, but the Marshmans wouldn't have it any other way. Mrs. Marshman also frankly admits that she loves it (auto racing, that is).

* * *

"WE'RE ALL SO happy about the way things have turned out," she says. "We had just about given up hope of his getting a 'ride.' Especially after he came home last week, and said there just weren't any cars. That he wanted to drive, anyway."

These are not the ravings of a scatterbrained schoolgirl, although the young Mrs. Marshman is associated with schools. She teaches Second graders, but frankly, memory fails as to just where.

She likewise admits to having been on pins and needles during the two days of testing. "We have recess at 10 o'clock (morning), and I'd think, 'now it's 9 o'clock out there, and they're just starting.'

"I'd be all tensed up then, because I want to be there. So to assure peace of mind in the household, she will take to the road tonight, and return Sunday night to take up her teaching chores.

SHE DISPLAYS NONE of the worry and apprehension that the layman would naturally associate with the wives of racing automobile drivers. One assumes that all racing wives fear for their husbands' safety.

But frankly, here is one reporter who readily admits to a lack of guts, when the time comes to ask. This somehow seems to be an intrusion on someone else's private world.

All are certain that the rookie (all newcomers to the speedway are labeled rookies regardless of racing experience) is in good hands, with teammate Don Branson "coaching" him for his qualification run.

Should he qualify for the race, he will "only" have to drive 500 hazardous miles. While Mrs. Marshman will have driven some 3000 miles, which we readily admit are far more hazardous. After all, there's dangerous WOMEN drivers on the highway. Present subject excepted, of course.

RAMS RATTLE 17 HITS FOR 'CLUTCH' WIN

Brower Twirls 2-Hitter, Loses Shutout In 7th

CONSHOHOCKEN — Rich Brower pitched Spring - Ford's Rams into the lead of the Ches-Mont league's Upper section Thursday with a two-hitter, but had plenty of support from his teammates in a 14-1 victory.

Brower allowed but two hits over the seven-inning route. He fanned nine and had a shutout going until the seventh, when the Golden Bears reached him for an unearned run.

Spring - Ford meanwhile, bombed John Blair and Bob Lawrence for 17 hits, and blew the game wide open with eight runs in the second frame.

The victory gave the Rams an 8-4 log for the year, against 7-5 for Pottstown High's Trojans, 7-1 losers to Lower section titlist Coatesville Thursday.

* * *

THE RAMS now need only to get past the Trojans tomorrow to assure the league crown.

A three-run first provided Brower with all the cushion necessary, and he in fact, helped his own cause along.

Ed Mogel, Brower and Dan Ferguson hit back to-back singles before John Miller — who pitched the Rams into a tie for the lead Thursday—cleared the bases with a ringing triple.

Ferguson hit his second straight single to lead off the second, while Nick Tuscai, Ed Mogel and Ken Landis drew walks.

* * *

HARRY BELTZ drove in a pair of runs with a single, and Denny Faust banged a double, good for another pair.

Bob Harker, Brower and Mogel also had singles in the inning, and Miller clubbed a double.

The Rams added two more in the fourth on doubles by Beltz and Harker, and Faust's single, then got a final run in the sixth on a triple by Mogel and a groundout by Ferguson.

Blair—who worked the first two innings—bore the brunt of the Ram attack, including the eight-run second. He allowed nine hits, walked two and struck out three.

Lawrence was raked for eight hits over the final five innings, including the final three Ram tallies.

Golfers in Dither With Three Conflicting Tourneys in June

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., (AP) — It may take the State department, the governor of Tennessee and officials of the Memphis Open to unravel golf's biggest rhubarb of the Spring.

Three tournaments are listed for June 1-4. They are the International Cup matches at San Juan, P.R., involving 34 countries, the PGA co-sponsored $30,000 Memphis Open and the PGA - unapproved $15,000 Pro-Amateur at Odessa, Tex.

The Puerto Rico matches are sponsored by the International Golf association.

"The conflict involves more than 20 players," J. Edwin Carter, PGA tournament director, said Thursday.

"ARNOLD PALMER, (U.S. Open champion), Gary Player (Masters champion from South Africa) and Stan Leonard (who is to represent Canada in San Juan) needed permission from both the PGA and Memphis Open officials to play in the cup matches.

"Mark Vorder Bruegge, president of the Colonial country club of Memphis, appeared before the PGA executive committee last Tuesday in Hollywood, Fla., and made a formal protest on conflict of date. He requested that the contract between the PGA and Memphis Open officials be lived up to the spirit and letter."

What does this mean?

"It means," said Carter, "that the golfers involved are subject to six months' suspension from PGA play plus a $500 fine if the play in a tournament other than the Memphis Open two weeks from Thursday.

"The PGA executive committee has instructed the tournament committee to live up to the full terms of the contract signed many months ago.

"Nothing will be done, however, until a contract is broken. "There have been conficts before, but these never involved more than one to three men. Sam Snead was not involved in the contract but he still had to ask PGA permission. He asked for it and I gave it to him.

"Player, Palmer, Doug Sanders, Don January, Billy Maxwell, Bob Rosburg, Bo Wininger, Ernie Vossler, Dave Hill and Leonard are among those who need both PGA and Memphis permission to play either in San Juan or Odessa.

"Memphis has the same contract used in all other co-sponsored PGA tournaments."

The Memphis contract calls for appearances there of the 1960 Open and PGA champions, the 25 top players in last year's Memphis Open, the previous Memphis winners, winners of PGA events in the last 12 months and the top 25 PGA tour players of 1960.

What irked Memphis officials was the fact that too many pros had requested permission to play in the four-day Pro-Am in Odessa.

Palmer Avoids Commitments On Upcoming Mixup

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—"I would like to stay clear of any conflict," Golfer Arnold Palmer said Thursday just before he teed off in the 72-hole San Snead festival.

The conflict involves the International Cup matches in San Juan, P. R. The $30,000 Memphis Open and the $15,000 Odessa, Tex. pro-am. Each of these events is set for June 1-4.

Palmer, U.S. Open champion, is scheduled to represent the United States with Snead as his partner in the International tournament involving 34 countries.

Palmer and Snead are the defending champions. They won in Dublin last year.

"THIS IS more than a tournament in San Juan," Snead said. "We could stand some International good will relations. We're not going in there for the money."

J. Edwin Carter, PGA National tournament director, arrived here Thursday on another matter, and said he would make a full statement later.

He did acknowledge that a contract exists between the PGA and the Memphis Open. Sponsors of the latter event want Palmer and Masters Champion Gary Player of South Africa in their tourney.

Under PGA rules, players not released from a PGA cosponsored event, which Memphis is, are subject to a suspension of six months from PGA play and a $500 fine.

Wildcats Score Unearned Run in 8th, Trip Conestoga, 4-3 for 5th Victory

BERWYN — Lloyd (Smoky) Stover threw wildy past first base after fielding Muggs Piersol's grounder in the eighth inning Thursday, allowing Joel Smiley to score from second as Owen J. Roberts shaded Conestoga, 4-3 here.

The unearned run—third of four tallies surrendered by Ron Holliday—gave the Wildcats their fifth victory of the season against seven setbacks.

It also climaxed a three-run rally for the Wildcats, who had trailed from the opening inning.

Portsideer Pete Barth survived a shaky first inning to go the distance and record the victory. He allowed six hits, walked but one and fanned 13 over the route.

* * *

IN THE first however, Barth got himself in trouble by bobbling Charlie Jenks' grounder, which allowed the outfielder to reach second base, after which he scored on Ron Holliday's single.

Holliday scored moments later on Len DiMidio's single.

The Wildcats cut the margin to 2-1 in the fourth when Smiley walked, moved along on a single by Jack Plask, and scored when Piersol was safe on an error, this one by Jim Moore.

The Pioneers got the run back in the home fourth however, as Gus Rubbo singled, stole second and scored as Moore made up for his error with an RBI single.

* * *

THE WILDCATS finally tied the score in the fifth, as Barry Fry singled, Pete Stanson was hit by a pitch and both rode home on Smiley's single to left field.

The two teams dueled through the next two innings without damage, setting the stage for the Wildcats' rally in the eighth.

Smiley singled to lead off, and moved along when Plask grounded out.

Piersol then hit a dribbler down the third base line, which Stover fielded, but overthrew First Baseman Rubbo. It pinned the loss on Holliday, who allowed eight hits.

The Trojans can tie again for the division lead in their regular season finale, Saturday against Spring-Ford. The Trojans, however, have dropped their last two in a row, while the Rams are on a six-game win streak, and the hottest team in the league just now.

Upper Dublin JH Wins 3-0 Battle Over Pottsgrove

Henry Cottom limited Pottsgrove Junior High to three singles as Upper Dublin shut out the Falcons 3-0 at Pottsgrove Thursday.

Cottom fanned 14 batters in going the route to gain the win. Nate Cotton carried the battling load for the victors with two of his teams five hits.

Upper Dublin got two runs off losing pitcher Ron Favinger in the second. Walks to Bernie Rogers and Len Tillman and a single by Tom Williams loaded the bases. Nate Cottom followed with a single driving in two runs.

A hit batter a single by Rogers and an error netted the winners their final run in the sixth.

FALCONS TOP TWIN VALLEY IN 8 INNINGS

Logan, Millard Blows Ice Overtime Contest

Bill Logan and Pete Millard came through with clutch singles in the eighth inning as Pottsgrove took a 5-4 win over Twin Valley's Raiders Thursday on the losers' diamond.

Millard singled and stole second to start the eighth and Logan singled him home with the winning run.

Twin Valley had tied the score with a pair of runs in the bottom of the seventh. John Goodman walked Jack Thomas followed with a double scoring Goodman.

Thomas moved to third on a groundout and scored on Bill White's fly to left. Pottsgrove took a 1-0 lead in the second on Logans homer to left field.

Wayne Hurst tripled to start the Pottsgrove fourth. Logan followed with a grounder to short and a play was made for Hurst at the plate. Hurst was safe and Logan moved to second base. Logan then scored on Dave Hoffmans single.

Twin Valley scored two in the fifth. A hit batsman, an error and Thomas' double accounted for the scoring.

Adams, Mutter In Langhorne Go

LANGHORNE, Pa. — Freddy Adams, of Kutztown and Warren Mutter, of Boyertown, will be making another bid for triumph at the Langhorne Speedway on Sunday when the 100-mile Sportsman 1961 Futurity is presented.

Wall, Cupit Shoot 65s, Grab Hot Springs Lead

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., (AP) — Art Wall and Buster Cupit put together perfect putting and steady fairway games to shot 7-under-par 65s and tie for the first round lead in the $20,000 Hot Springs Open golf tournament Thursday.

Wall, of Pocono Manor, Pa., seemed to have overcome a back injury that has plagued him through the first 12 tournaments of the year.

The 37-year-old veteran, the PGA's leading money winner in 1959, missed a 65-foot chip shot by inches on the 18th hole.

Cupit, of Fort Smith, Ark., shot a 31-43-65 and holed eight birdies. Wall dunked seven birdies and was 33-32—65. Both had 26 putts.

* * *

JERRY STEELSMITH of Glendale, Calif., and Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., shot 67s to tie for third place.

Tied for fifth with 68s were Julius Boros, Al Geiberger, Dave Ragan, Mason Rudolph and Doug Sanders, winner of last week's Colonial at Fort Worth.

Sanders said after the Colonial that he would not compete in the Hot Springs tournament although he already had entered. Then he changed his mind.

"I played an awfully good game today," Wall said. "The only time my back bothered me was when I made an improper swing." He has won $8862 in 12 tournaments so far this year. Cupit is playing in his fourth tournament of the season.

Defending Champion Bill Collins of Crystal River, Fla., was down in the pack with a par 72.

Most of the 94 professionals have played the 7000-yard Hot Springs country club course before, and Cupit is a veteran of the layout.

Eighteen holes a day are carded through Sunday. The field will be cut to under 60 pros and 10 amateurs after Friday's round.

Williams Grove Featuring Fast Modified Stocks

WILLIAMS GROVE, Pa. — A rough-and ready field of the top modified stock car chauffers from throughout the Central Pennsylvania area and Maryland are ready to to go to the post on tonight's six-event program getting underway at 8 p. m. on the Williams Grove Speedway.

After a one-week layoff because of rain, the chase for the lead in point standings will be on with a vengeance as the hard-riding dare-devils go all-out to ride to victory in the preliminary qualifying races and the big 25-lap feature race.

Only five points separate the current leader and the runner-up going into the third card in the season-long weekly series.

Johnny Dubendorf, 32-year-old truck driver from Lewistown, holds a slight edge with 400 points, with Frankie Thompson, 27 also a truck driver from Shrewsberry, and the 1959 champion, a close second with 395 points.

Conley Halts Tiger Win Streak 1-0 on 4-Hitter

BOSTON (AP) — Giant Gene Conley pitched lowly Boston past Detroit's American League leaders 1-0 Thursday night, taming the Tigers on four singles.

Conley, the ex-National Leaguer righting himself after a three-game losing streak, had the visitors dancing to the tune of his deceptive slider.

Don Buddin, the Red Sox shortstop, doubled home the game's only run in the fifth inning. The blow carried to the right field corner and Pete Runnels, who had walked, just beat the throw to the plate.

Two of the Tigers' safeties off Conley were by left-handed hitters Billy Bruton in the first and Norm Cash in the fourth. Dick Brown collected another hit off the 6-foot-8 right-hander.

Conley beat an old Sox nemesis, Jim Bunning whose accomplishments against the home forces include a no-hitter here three years ago.

Only one Detroit batter got as far as second base against the deliberate Conley. That came in the fourth inning on a walk to Rocky Colavito and single by Cash with two out. Jackie Jensen, who doubled twice for the Red Sox, hauled in Steve Boros' smash to right after a long run.

Throneberry Paces A's To 4-3 Win Over Twins

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —Marv Throneberry drove in all four Kansas City runs Thursday night, including three with his fifth homer of the season, as the A's and Ray Herbert defeated the Minnesota Twins 4-3.

Herbert allowed the Twins only seven hits and got a big boost early when Throneberry unloaded his round-tripper with Bill Tuttle and Norm Siebern aboard. He singled home the clincher in the eighth, after Bob Allison's eighth homer with none on, had pulled the A's within one run in the seventh.

It was the Twins' hometown debut under lights, before a chilled crowd of 8,878.

The Twins drew first blood, scoring one run in the opening inning on singles by Zoilo Versalles, a ground out and Harmon Killebrew's single. It was the 12th straight game in which Killebrew has hit safely.

Herbert then retired the Twins in order for five innings before walking Don Mincher to start the sixth.

Golden Cubs Bow To Phoenixville Unit by 5-0 Pad

PHOENIXVILLE — Phoenixville Junior High hopped on Lawrence (Corky) Rath for a pair of first inning runs, and coasted to a 5-0 victory behind the shutout pitching of Larry Blasik here.

Rich Denfield provided Blasik with all the margin he needed when he swatted a solo homer with one out in the first.

Buddy Sutyak followed with a double and scored on a fielder's choice.

Rath walked Andy Allen and John Elvin in the third, then surrendered a run-scoring single to Bob McConaghy for a 3-0 lead.

The winners got an unearned run in the fourth, as Blasik was safe on a fielder's choice, moved around on Denfield's second hit —a single—and scored on an error.

The final run scored as a result of a walk to Allen, who stole second and rode home on McConaghy's second hit.

C & K DUMPS WHIZ KIDS IN CITY LEAGUE

Renninger Hurls 5-Hit Effort, Winners Bang Out 10

C&K started its 1961 City Softball season off on a winning note dumping Whiz Kids 10-3 at Memorial park Thursday night.

Thursday night's winners join Sunset Pharmacy 5-2 victor over Holy Trinity, Wednesday and Minneapolis - Honeywell at the top of the loop.

Merrill Renninger fired a five - hitter to gain the mound decision. He also sparked the C&K plate effort with three hits and a pair of RBIs.

Joe Karpinski was the only shining light in the Whiz Kid attack. He garnered three of the losers five singles.

C&K bombarded Whiz Kid pitching for four extra base hits in their 10-hit attack. Renninger had two doubles, Bob Mauger chipped in with a two bagger, and Bob Bartman clouted a triple.

DiVeronica Bows To Martinovich

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Freddie Martinovich of Pittsburgh pressed the fighting all the way Thursday night and won by unanimous decision over Dick DiVeronica of Syracuse, N.Y., in the feature 10-round lightweight bout at the Palisades in nearby McKeesport.

Martinovich raised a welt under DiVeronica's left eye with a righthand smash in the fourth.

Preliminary results:

Henry Hall, 144, Delbarton, W. Va., outpointed Andero Gonzales, 141, Duquesne, Pa., 6.

Jim Bailey, 162, Delbarton, W. Va., knocked out Mitchell Robinson, McKeesport, Pa., 2.

Rudy Richardson, 137, McKeesport, Pa., knocked out Tim Simmons, 140, McKeesport, Pa., 1.

Billy Bodish, 124, West View, Pa., knocked out Ray Casey.

Dragons Rattle Colonel Moundsmen for 15-1 Win

BRIDGEPORT — Collegeville-Trappe's Colonels mustered some satisfaction from Paul (Happy) Schatz' solo homer in the second inning, but it was little in view of the game's outcome, a 15-1 Bridgeport victory here.

The Dragons whacked three Colonel pitchers for 11 hits, and waited out nine free passes while scoring four runs in the first inning, one in the second and two more in the third.

This gave the homesters a 7-1 lead before the Colonels were able to stop the scoring onslaught—and then only briefly—in the fourth.

The Dragons, with Mike Puscar and Bob Mazzerle heading the attack, roared back for five more runs in the fifth, and closed out the day's work with four in the seventh.

Mazzerle drove in three runs, and had a three-run homer, while Puscar banged three hits in five trips to the plate.

Barry Nestor started on the mound for the Colonels, but lasted only two and two-thirds innings. Four walks, together with six hits and three wild pitches, kept him in trouble.

Roberts JH Tops Spring-Ford 6-1

Owen J. Roberts Junior high scored two runs in the second inning and coasted to a 6-1 win over Spring-Ford at Bucktown Thursday.

Larry Titanic singled in the first. He stole second. McCalicher followed with a walk.

Titanic attempted to steal third and the catcher threw the ball into left field and he scored. McCalicher moved to second on the error and scored after a pair of ground outs.

Bill Scherfel — who had three for three — tripled and scored on an error in the third.

Spring-Ford's Rich Wells smacked one of winning pitcher Wayne Wisler's offerings for a homer in the fourth.

Owen J. Roberts finished the scoring with three runs in the sixth. Singles by Tom Cresswell, Dave Wallace, and Chris Zook along with Bob Caldwell's walk did the damage.

Nashua Blue 'Surprise' 9th Entry in Preakness

BALTIMORE, (AP) — Nashua Blue made a surprise hop into the 85th Preakness lineup Thursday, joining Carry Back and seven other colts for Maryland's great 3-year-old classic at old Pimlico.

Trainer Lloyd Murray suddenly advised Maryland Jockey club officials that Nashua Blue would be flown from Boston to Baltimore for Saturday's $150,000-added race. Nashua Blue is owned by the Boncrist farm of Christopher J. Devine, Wall street broker who lives in New Jersey.

When word of this was passed around with the scrambled eggs at the annual alibi breakfast for owners and trainers, Carry Back's trainer - breeder never missed a stroke with knife and fork. The opposition just doesn't worry him.

The weatherman promised some rain Thursday night, clearing Friday and probable sunny skies and 70-degree temperature for Saturday. Carry Back, the come-from-behind darling of the two-buck bettors, is the 6 to 5 favorite for the mile and three-sixteenths Preakness — one sixteenth shorter than the mile and one quarter Derby at Louisville May 6.

BUT WHEN the red-jacketed Maryland Jockey club band gives with "Maryland, My Maryland" at 5:45 P. M. (Pottstown time), Carry Back may be an even money choice.

Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, who looked like the Derby winner until Carry Back charged past him for a three-quarter length victory, is the 5-2 second choice. But Carry Back has beaten Crozier in four stakes this season.

Others in the expected field are Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Dr. Miller, Leonard P. Sasso's Globemaster, Jacob Sher's Sherluck, Ogden Phipps' Hitting Away, the Crimson King farm's Crimson Fury, and Ben Weiner's Orleans Doge.

Nashua Blue's greatest claim to fame is a victory over Calumet's Beau Prince — an early Derby favorite until he was hurt — in the Hutcheson stakes at Gulfstream park in March. But he was trounced soundly by Carry Back last Fall in the Cowdin, and last Winter in the Everglades stakes.

Nashua Blue, third in the Withers, had gone from New York to Boston for the Suffolk Downs stakes Saturday. Then Trainer Murray suddenly bought transportation to Baltimore. Buck Thornburg rides Nashua Blue.

Trainer John Jacobs said Louis Lee Haggin II had released Jockey Herberto Hinojosa to ride Dr. Miller here.

Jeffers Boosts Brain and Brawn For Lehigh Teams

BETHLEHEM, Pa., (AP)—Pete Jeffers is that elusive combination of brains and brawn that most athletic coaches search for but rarely find.

A native of Butler, Pa., who migrated to West Hazleton and then Myerstown, Jeffers, was captain of the 1960-1961 Lehigh university soccer and baseball teams. And he ranks second among 146 arts and science majors in the class of 1961.

The 22-year-old son of a minister was elected to Pi Mu Epsilon, the National mathematics honorary fraternity, and has received a National foundation fellowship to be used next year at Lehigh for graduate study in chemistry.

In soccer, Jeffers was a regular on attack, usually at the inside right position. He scored 14 goals and made 16 assists in three years on the squad. As a baseball player, Jeffers is closing out his third year as a first string outfielder. His .279 of last year was second best on the team.

The Jeffers family moved to Myerstown in 1950, where the youngster began to establish his reputation as a scholar-athlete. He starred in soccer and baseball and tried basketball, becoming a Lebanon county all-star on the court. He graduated first in his Myerstown high class.

Senators Prove Doherty Belongs in Big Leagues

NEW YORK, (AP) — It took Ed Doherty, general manager of the Washington Senators, 30 years to make the big leagues. It took him only 30 days to make the American league aware of his presence.

The tall, handsome 62-year-old former semipro pitcher, newspaperman, publicity agent, traveling secretary, Navy commander, minor league club president and head of the American association, believes he finally has arrived. Why?

"People are asking (Who the heck is Ed Doherty?)" he answers.

Hardly anybody, outside minor league circles, knew of Doherty when he was made boss of Washington's player-less franchise last November. His friends didn't envy him the job.

IN FACT, some warned him not to accept it. No one, they figured, could do justice to himself with the bunch of raggamuffins the new Senators were certain to acquire.

But Doherty had waited for a big league opportunity a long time and he wasn't going to pass it up.

"This has been the most gratifying experience of my life," he said, still exulting over the Senators' fifth straight victory, an 8-7 decision over the New York Yankees Wednesday.

"I've never seen a bunch of guys hustle as much as ours," he said. "It's the most determined group of players in the World.

THE GUYS resent all those disparaging things said and written about them and they're out to prove they belong in the big leagues."

Doherty singled out Veteran Gene Woodling, the team's elder statesman.

"He's the steadying influence," said Doherty. "Gene always has been a battler, always has given 100 percent and he sees to it that the others do, too. Once he spotted a couple of younger fellows sitting in the clubhouse smoking during a pre-game practice.

"You've been bellyaching about not getting a chance before,' he barked. 'Well, you're getting one now so what are you doing about it? Why don't you guys get out there and do some running instead of sitting here smoking?'"

Doherty hand - picked this team himself with emphasis on strong pitching and a tight defense. Realizing he couldn't hope to compete with other clubs in the power department, Ed ordered the fences in Griffith stadium moved back to lessen the danger of home run hitting. The move has helped greatly.

"Burt Hawkins, our public relations director, has been keeping figures," said Doherty, "and he tells me had we not pushed back the fences, the opposition would have hit 28 more home runs to our seven thus far."

TROJANS TOP SPRING-FORD

Pottstown HS Sweeps Firsts for 67-23 Triumph

Dave Heslin and Bill Luckett set records in the mile run and 440-yard dash respectively Thursday, as Pottstown High's thinclads thumped Spring-Ford, 67-23.

The Trojans took—or at least tied for—every first place in the meet. There were no hurdles or javelin, because the Rams are without hurdles thus far, and the javelin is not allowed at Spring-Ford.

Heslin ran the mile in 4 minutes, 51 seconds, to outdistance the Rams' Jerry Frederick and Trojan Bob Hartenstine.

Luckett, chased by the Rams' Joe Rhile and teammate Stan Hildenbrand, ran the quarter in 55 seconds flat. Both performances were a bit off their top clockings for the season.

LUCKETT ALSO won the 220-yard dash in 24 seconds flat, and led the second of two Trojan sweeps. The visitors also captured all three places in the 100-yard dash, as the Rams went again without their top sprinters.

Jim Foster heaved the shot 52 feet, two inches, and Bronk Glenn became the meet's only triple winner with firsts in the century (10.8 seconds), the high jump at five feet, eight inches, and the broad jump.

Spring-Ford's John Kerstetter tied the Trojans' Willie Day for first in the pole vault, at 10 feet, nine inches.

McCoy Makes Bid To Extend String On Hatfield Oval

Ernie McCoy, veteran Reading broadslider, will be seeking to extend his streak to five straight feature race conquests when the mighty ARDC midgets make their initial Hatfield Speedway appearance on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

McCoy, who drives the Lori B. Offy out of New York City, won all four ARDC feature events at Hatfield's third-mile clay course in 1960 and will attempt to pick up where he left off last year when the roaring midgets invade the Montgomery County oval.

He also won features at Manassas and Hamburg to finish fourth in ARDC point standings behind Ed "Dutch" Schaefer, Floral Park, Long Island, Bert Brooks, Newington Connecticut and Tony Bonadies, Bronx, all of whom will be in action Saturday evening.

Other contenders who will bear watching are Johnny Coy, the former NASCAR sensation who hails from Freeport, L.I.; Len Duncan, Philadelphia; Al Graeber, Springfield, Pa.; King Carpenter, Rockville, Conn., Gog Stephens, North Reading, Mass.; Fred "Jiggs" Peters, Neshamic, N.J.; Wayne Doerstler, Lancaster.

According to Schaefer, president of the ARDC, there will be about 40 cars on hand for the Hatfield midget opener.

Hill JV Netmen Top Norristown HS, 8-1

The Hill school's jayvee netmen captured all six singles matches and tied in two doubles to gain an 8-1 victory over Norristown High school on the winners' courts.

Rusty Drowne and Hayden Silleck got The Hill off to a strong start with victories of 6-2, 6-2, and 6-2, 6-0 over Bob Vvotto and Jack Rodenbough respectively.

John DeWitt upended Chuck Earl 6-3, 6-1, and Jim Idema topped Frank Fenmore 6-2, 6-2. Brad Oliver had a "softie" with Harry Hanna, winning 6-0, 6-0, Dudley Henckels wound it up, winning, 6-0, 6-1 over Dick Dibble.

The Hill's John Robinson-Mike Jackman combine topped Norristown's Bob Fry and Bill Rouke, but the next two units split sets in matches that were halted by lateness.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE OF THE most beguiling films in the world unfortunately will never be exhibited publicly. It's a compilation of all the song-and-dance numbers done by Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire from their first collaboration, "Flying Down to Rio," to their last, "The Barkleys of Broadway." It runs for three solid hours, and includes such memorable numbers as "Cheek to Cheek," "The Continental," "All My Eggs in One Basket," and "They Can't Take That Away From Me."

There are only two prints of this film in existence: Fred Astaire has one, and Ginger the other. There are too many rights involved to permit a general release.

The teenage son slumped dejectedly in his chair, and his mother anxiously whispered to his father, "What's biting him now?" "It's nothing worth whispering about," said the father resignedly. "He wants to go to the drugstore down at the corner —but the car won't start."

Modern Manners

By CAROLYN HAGNER SHAW
Author of "Modern Manners — Etiquet for All Occasions"

THE TEEN-AGER HOLDS COURT

The other evening, while having an informal supper with friends, I was interested in the comments of their two teen-age daughters. Jokingly, I asked them to write down the things they liked, and the things they didn't. The "didn'ts" outbalanced the "likes!" Here are some of their comments:

Don't likes: (The indented comments are mine).

1. "The 'holier - than - thou' teen-ager, who finds fault with everyone and everything."

A young person who takes this critical attitude is actually insecure herself. To fight this, she will criticize others, and only attain unpopularity by doing so. If she would only learn to be herself, natural and thoughtful of others, this stigma would change.

2. "People who have no source of conversation other than 'I'."

Those who learn early in life that the less they use "I" the more people will be attracted to them, have attained an attribute almost beyond price for their future contacts.

3. "Teen-agers who are indifferent to all school activities. They join in nothing — social, athletic or otherwise. They look down their noses at those of us who do try to be a part of the school spirit."

Let them look! Ignore any barbed remarks aimed your way. Sooner or later they will learn that they are left out of everything. In self defense they will mend their ways!

4. "The boys we call 'Rebels' — complete with black leather jackets, long, greasy hair and a 'poor-misunderstoodme' attitude. They make flip remarks to the girls as they walk by. They cause trouble in the classroom by being rude to the teacher. They are just plain horrible and we avoid them like the plague."

It's too bad that there can't be a special school for these characters, to separate them from decent, right-thinking teeners. Their smart-alecky actions make them disgusting bores. I suppose they think it's smart to do everything a gentleman doesn't do. Don't worry. They will learn the hard way.

5. "The parents who persist in downgrading their children's activities, when around other adults."

The parents of teen-agers are very thoughtless when they assume this attitude. Why can't they realize that these activities means as much to the teen-ager as their own activities do to them? Parents who take this course should wake up and remember their own teen-age days!

I've run out of space! Next week we will take up the things my teen-agers liked!

* * *

QUESTION: I have been criticized by a co-worker in my office for not rising every time my secretary comes to my desk to take dictation or an order. Is he right in this idea? It seems like a rather unnecessary procedure.

Mr. L. N. A.

ANSWER: Right you are! To be jumping up and down all day is really rather overdoing the role of gentleman. It is certainly not expected between those who work together every day. If a client comes to your desk, then you should rise immediately, and seat him before resuming your own chair. You rise when he leaves, too.

Portrait Painter Challenges Art Gallery Director to Duel

LONDON (AP)—Pietro Annigoni—the portrait painter with the delicate touch and the explosive temper—has challenged the director of Britain's National Gallery to a duel.

"Tell Sir Philip Hendy I want to fight him," hissed the fiery Italian in an interview Thursday.

Sir Philip is one of the world's leading authorities on art and old masters. Annigoni considers himself one, too.

"The duel is no joke," he added. "I'm deadly serious."

The background dates from the day last month the Milan-based brush wielder arrived in London one of his periodic and profitable visits. One of the first places he entered was the National Gallery. And he walked out in a rage.

"There are four Titians in there," he snorted. "They are worth thousands, but in my opinion they've been ruined by the way they've been cleaned."

Asked for comment, Sir Philip replied: "Mr. Annigoni's remarks are irresponsible."

This sent the artist's temperature up several more degrees.

At a public luncheon he repeated his accusation and said he resented Sir Philip's remarks. When Sir Philip refused further comment, Annigoni flung down the duel challenge.

Reporters tried to find Hendy to deliver the challenge. They told he had gone to Italy on a vacation. Annigoni approved.

"But he'll come back," he said in a calmer voice, "and when he does we'll duel."

"What weapons?" asked a newsman.

"Paint brushes," said the artist.

Radar Checks No Speed Trap, Says McCartney

WILLOW GROVE (AP) — Col. Frank G. McCartney, State police commissioner, said Thursday that no motorist will be caught in a speed trap when radar is used on Pennsylvania highways for the first time, starting Sept. 1.

Signs will tell motorists of radar installations, McCartney said in a speech before the Willow Grove Rotary club. "There can be no danger of motorists encountering a radar team unexpectedly."

McCartney said 15 radar sets will be used and each will be manned by four troopers: two to operate the set and two in pursuit cars.

The sets will be moved from time to time throughout the patrol areas of the 15 state police troops.

Churchill Is Confined to Bed

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill was confined to bed at his London residence Thursday by "a very mild indisposition."

Persons close to the 86-year-old statesman said there was no cause for alarm but declined to say what is wrong. It was understood, however, that Churchill is suffering from a minor throat ailment.

Lord Moran, his personal physician, called at Churchill's house Thursday morning, and said later: "The indisposition is slight."

A woman secretary at the residence told a reporter: "Sir Winston is spending the day in bed. It is nothing serious and he hopes to be up again tomorrow."

First news of his indisposition came from the Foreign Office. A spokesman there said arrangements for President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia to visit Churchill Thursday afternoon had been canceled because of the former prime minister's indisposition.

Little League Baseball Player Killed

TEMPLE CITY, Calif. (AP) — The littlest boy in the local Little League turned in toward a slow curve — and it hit him in the chest.

Barry J. Babcock, 9, dropped his bat, slumped back and died in the umpire's arms Wednesday night.

The boy's father dashed from the stands and tried mouth-to-resuscitation — in vain.

The pitcher, Michael Hanes, 10, collapsed in uncontrolled hysterics.

And it was toward Mike that Barry's father turned Thursday with words of consolation — and an offer to help him continue his baseball career.

"It could have happened any way," said grief-stricken Jack Babcock, Barry's dad. "It could have been a bike accident just as well."

He said he'll watch over Mike, who he learned is fatherless, and do all he can to comfort him and guide his baseball career.

"I hope this doesn't curtail Little League ball," the father said. "Barry wouldn't want that. He loved baseball more than anything in life."

Barry's mother, just home from a hospital after a serious heart operation, was placed under sedation after she was told the news.

"She's taking it very badly and I'm afraid of what Barry's death will do to her," Babcock said. "We have another son, Philip, 4, but Barry was our first-born."

Hospital attendants said the pitched hard ball apparently crushed the boy's heart. An autopsy will determine the exact cause of death.

Little League headquarters in Philadelphia said Barry's death was the first in a Little League game.
